Tax bills being mailed

Collection begins Monday

Quad-Cityans may prepare for an unpleasant surprise in their mailboxes during the weekend as Madison County's property tax bills are received, most showing increases over last year's bills. Collection will begin Monday, if the bills are mailed on time.

Pat Morrison, head of data processing for the county, said that an automatic "stuffer" in the county courthouse at Edwardsville had broken down, but that his staff and members of the staff of Madison County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus were manually stuffing the bills and notices in envelopes this week and pledged the bills would be mailed "Thursday—Friday at the latest."

Collection by township tax collectors will begin Monday morning. The township collectors are urging residents to pay the first installment of their taxes locally, rather than send the checks to the county treasurer. Henkhaus, on the other hand, says that his office can distribute the money to cash-starved taxing districts as rapidly as the township collectors and is urging residents to follow the directions on the tax bills and mail the first payment or full amount to his office in Edwardsville.

Most Quad-City area taxing bodies contend they seem to receive the money faster from the local collectors than from the county treasurer. That has been debated hotly in recent years.

Residents of Granite City, Venice and Nameoki townships are supposed to receive a separate notice in their tax bill envelopes urging them to pay the first installment of their taxes to the township collector. Chouteau's request for such notices to be included in the envelopes was denied because the new tax collector there, Michael Johnson, took office too late to make such a request.

All Granite City residents are in Granite City Township, since the two share identical boundaries. Granite City Treasurer Nick Petrillo, who also is the township tax collector, is urging persons to make their first payments, or pay both halves at once, at his office in city hall, 2000 Edison Ave., or at First Granite City National Bank, Granite City Trust and Savings Bank or its Madison Avenue facility, American Heritage Bank of Granite City or Colonial Bank of Granite City during regular banking hours. Payments will be taken beginning Monday morning.

Nameoki Township residents are urged to make their payments to deputies of Tax Collector Normal Hall at the banks or at the township office, 4250 Highway 162, Madison County Federal Savings & Loan in Collinsville also will accept Nameoki Township property tax payments for the convenience of township residents in State Park Place. Chouteau Township Tax Collector Johnson says he will begin collecting taxes Monday at his home, Rural Route One, Box 632A, East Alton, which is on Hedge Road across from Losch Farms a mile and a half southeast of the Shell Oil Co. refinery. He can be reached by calling 1-254-0579.

Johnson also plans special dates at various locations for the convenience of taxpayers. He will be at the Mitchell Public Water Co. office July 25 and Aug. 8, the South Roxana Village Hall July 26 and Aug. 9, the Hartford Village Hall, July 27 and Aug. 10 and the Chouteau Township Hall, July 29 and Aug. 11. Hours at all those locations are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. All other days, Mondays through Saturdays, he will accept tax payments at home.

Venice Township residents may pay Tax Collector Zella Niehaus at the township office, Fifth Street and Madison Avenue, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. weekdays, beginning Monday.

The county treasurer's office will accept payments by mail or may be visited in person weekdays between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. to make payments. Henkhaus' office is on the second floor of the county courthouse in the middle of the square in downtown Edwardsville.

The penalty date for late payment of the first installment of taxes is Aug. 22, unless the county treasurer issues an extension.

'Super Kid' growing stronger

By DONNA KIMBRO
of the Press-Record

Happy, contented and full of vim, vigor and vitality is 1-year-old Adam Johnsee, who was hospitalized from the time of his birth on July 10, 1982, to January 14, 1983, when he arrived home for the first time.

The little boy weighed 2 pounds, 12 ounces, when he was born two months premature at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis and now has grown to 15 pounds. He was measured at 15 inches long at birth and has grown to 28 inches.

Although he still has difficulty in breathing and must be on oxygen almost 24 hours a day, Adam has adjusted to wearing the long slim plastic tube which is about 15 to 20 feet in length, giving full freedom to crawl about, which he does quite proficiently.

When the weather changes or the humidity rises, Adam does need the help, but we hope after the summer months we may begin to taper off the amount of time he is on the oxygen," Mrs. Johnsee explained.

A condition seen most often in newborn and premature children, Adam suffers from hyaline membrane disease, an acute respiratory distress syndrome. A membranous layer covers the air sacs in the lungs, with resultant difficulty in breathing.

Immediately after his birth, Adam was transferred to Children's Hospital and put on a respirator for about eight to nine weeks. After being on the respirator for such a long time, the small boy developed bronchial pulmonary dysplasia, thus the need for oxygen.

Adam now eats a regular diet of baby food, as well as his formula, but has progressed to table food. Each day, he still receives special medication, but with his steady improvement, one medicine has been eliminated.

When he first came home, two therapists visited the Johnsees home twice a week to continue the program to strengthen his muscle tone, but now has only an occasional visit from one therapist. He is in the process of building his own strength by moving about so agilely and pulling himself up on tables and chairs throughout the house.

"He does move fast sometimes and, when I cannot see him, I just look for the plastic tube and follow it to wherever he may be, sometimes he is behind a table or couch," his mother said.

After an active and busy day for Adam, he does what comes naturally and sleeps from about 10 p.m. until 10 a.m. the next morning without waking up during the night. He also

Venice employees may face cutbacks

By VALERIE EVENDEN
of the Press-Record

Instead of hoped-for raises, employees in the city of Venice may be facing the prospect of cutbacks in jobs or salaries this year, according to comments made by Mayor Tyrone Echols at Tuesday night's meeting of the Venice City Council.

A "gloom and doom" atmosphere pervaded Tuesday's public hearing on the 1983-84 fiscal year appropriation ordinance for the city of Venice when the future was characterized by Mayor Echols as a "pretty dismal picture" and the prospect of a future tax referendum was voiced.

The budget hearing, which preceded the council's regular session, was attended by few people.

"There are some strong vibrations floating around that one of the industries here is going to close down. If this happens, it means the loss of $94,000 in tax money a year and you know what that will do," the mayor said.

"You might want to keep this in mind if anyone questions you about the prospect of raises. Those that are belly-aching about a raise may not be here next year," he added.

"Things don't look good and I am inclined to believe it is a reality," the mayor said, speaking of losing an industry.

After the council meeting, Mayor Echols named the concern he believes is closing as Union Electric's Venice power plant, which presently it being operated on a standby basis.

"If we lose this tax money, it means the loss of nearly all the funds needed to operate the street department or about dead at St. Elizabeth Medical Center at 6:45 p.m. Monday. Three passengers in the westbound Hornet, which police said attempted to overtake two other vehicles, and Thomas W. Hundley of Granite City, driver of an eastbound auto, all were seriously hurt.

One dead, 4 hurt in Pontoon crash

A 28-year-old St. Louis refugee from Laos, died at 6:45 p.m. Monday, July 11, at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, of injuries sustained in a two-car accident on Pontoon Road at Vine Boulevard, in which four other persons were seriously hurt.

Police said the refugee, whose name is Sounthone, was driving westbound and was attempting to pass two vehicles when the auto swerved into the path of an eastbound car driven by Thomas W. Hundley, 2519 Lynch Ave., owner of Handy Auto Sales & Leasing Co., 3830 Nameoki Road.

Hundley, 48, who was alone in his vehicle, was in stable condition this afternoon after surgery.

Three passengers in Sounthone's car, all from St. Louis and believed to be refugees, were identified by police as Bounpong Vorasith, 28, Sommay Oumkham, 38, and Ellaysick Khamsing, 24.

Oumkham and Vorasith were listed in stable condition Tuesday at SEMC and Khamsing, also reported stable, remained in the intensive care unit.

Police cited the three surviving refugees for illegal possession of alcohol after an open bottle of malt liquor allegedly was found in Sounthone's vehicle.

The impact of the collision spun Hundley's auto into a crosswalk traffic light and turned Sounthone's vehicle around until it faced a southeasterly direction.

The refugees were familiar with Granite City and had friends here, it was learned. It is believed they were on a fishing outing, as several fresh-caught fish were found in the auto.

Granite City emergency medical technicians and rescue crews were at the scene and CPR was applied, but Sounthone was pronounced dead by Madison County Deputy Coroner Edward Besserman in the SEMC emergency room.

Sounthone, who a sponsor said has only a one-word name, but liked to use the first name of "Tyronne," resided with his family in St. Louis for the past year and a half.

After fleeing Laos, the family lived in a relocation camp in Thailand for two years until coming to St. Louis. Sounthone, however, went to another relocation camp in The Philippines before arriving in the United States.

The Laotians came to the Midwest through the International Institute of Metropolitan St. Louis and were sponsored by the St. Louis Religious Society of Friends (Quakers). Mrs. Eldon Spiegelberg, a spokesman for the sponsoring organization, advised.

Since being here, Sounthone had worked in a factory and was mowing lawns during the summer months. His ambition was to be a cab driver, Mrs. Spiegelberg said.

He was of the Buddhist faith. Among the survivors are his mother, Mrs. Kham Kham of St. Louis, and three younger brothers, one with the Job Corps in Utah, and a sister. Funeral arrangements are given in the obituary column.

Two youngsters hurt in mishap

Vehicles operated by Beverly E. Lemp, 3045 Marshall Ave., and Annette E. Planitz, 805 Washington Ave., Madison, were involved in a collision on Nameki Road last week.

Sustaining injuries and taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, were two Lemp children, Michael, 8, and Christopher, 4, both of the Marshall Avenue address.

Mrs. Planitz said a motorist motioned her to pull out from Cottage Avenue and she failed to see Mrs. Lemp's auto, northbound on Nameki Road.

—Port Week' resolution passes House

The U.S. House of Representatives has passed H.R. Res. 173, which authorizes and requests the president, to issue a proclamation designating the week of Oct. 2 as "National Port Week."

In his remarks on the House floor, Rep. Mario Biaggi (D-N.Y.) voiced his support for the resolution, saying that "an improvement at any port has an economic impact far beyond the expectations of the principle participants."

Biaggi noted that the resolution had 222 co-sponsors in the House, a fact which, he said, "is a significant reflection of concern for a vital resource."

Biaggi also called for the enactment of "meaningful port development legislation" during this session of Congress.

Homes sought for French visitors

Quad-City area families are being invited to share their homes and family lives with a French teenager this summer by participating in the Nacel Summer Hosting Program.

Homes are needed for the students and their chaperones who will arrive at the Chicago O'Hare International Airport on Aug. 2 for a four-week visit in Illinois communities.

They come from all parts of France with the common desire of learning more of the American way of life. This student exchange program is sponsored by the Nouvelle Association Culturelle, Educative et Linguistique, a non-profit organization of Tours, France, and has the official approval of the French government. The program is widely supported by French teachers in the United States.

Flan Allen and Mark Hibbard are coordinating the efforts to find the needed homes in Illinois.

The primary purpose of the program is to promote international understanding through an experience in American family living. We believe that sharing the life of a family is the best way to begin to become acquainted with the country, its heritage and values," the Hibbards said.

The student will have the opportunity to develop greater fluency in speaking English and to establish lasting American friendships. The student will bring his or her own spending money and insurance is provided by the program.

All families are eligible to apply for this program. It is not necessary to speak French, because the students will want to practice English. Families may host whether they travel during the summer or stay at home because they can take their student with them.

Participation involves sharing the home with a young French student, aged 18 to 19 for a period of four weeks between Aug. 2 and Aug. 30. "By befriending a French student you can open up a new world to your family."

Nameoki Township officials still opposed to mobile home tax plan

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

Opposition to a proposal that would collect back taxes owed to Madison County by mobile home owners was voiced again Monday by members of the Nameoki Township Board of Trustees.

Last week, county officials met with representatives of local taxing districts to discuss the plan, which requests that municipalities give up one-third of money collected in the program and that money be used to pay the cost of collecting it.

Both Supervisor Harry Briggs and tax collector Norman Hall attended the meeting in Edwardsville and they both came away with the same opinion: The plan wouldn't be beneficial to Nameoki Township.

"At this point, I personally can't support going along with this," Hall told the trustees and residents at the township meeting.

He said he believes the problem of collecting back mobile home taxes belongs to the county, not the municipalities. Hall also said the trustees that he believes county officials have been negligent in collecting the tax and that's how the problem started in the first place.

"The county even levied an extra tax to pay the cost of collecting taxes. That's what they have been supposed to do all along. That's his (County Treasurer Mick Henkhaus') only job, collecting taxes," Hall told the Press-Record yesterday.

A law was passed 10 years ago for collection of mobile home taxes, but has been routinely ignored, Hall pointed out. One of the problems could be the name of the law, residents suggested.

Known commonly as the "privilege tax," some residents were under the impression that they didn't have to pay, Hall said.

He contended that some residents were told by officials at the Madison County Courthouse in Edwardsville that they didn't have to pay the tax.

The law is now called the Mobile Home Local Services Tax Act and requires owners of mobile homes to pay a property tax based on the size of the mobile home.

In Nameoki Township, $71,264 is owed in back taxes. County-wide, $700,000 is owed in delinquent payments. In a letter to the taxing districts, Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith said that only about 60 percent of mobile home owners in the county pay the tax.

However, Township Assessor Carl Maclos said at a recent township meeting that he believes most of the mobile home owners in the township have paid the tax. The proposal was initially discussed by township officials when Smith's letter was received and the trustees indicated they didn't favor the plan and wouldn't pay the one-third.

"(County officials) said they're going ahead with it, but not with our blessing," Briggs said Monday.

Henkhaus said last week that he has been working on the state's attorney's office for two years to set up the plan and it now is ready to be enacted. Mobile home residents who refuse to pay the tax will be prosecuted, he said.

Initially, the cost of cracking down on delinquent taxpayers will be $16,000 to hire an attorney and a secretary to find those who owe taxes. County officials — most notably Smith — openly admitted when the ordinance establishing the program was passed June 15 by the county board, that there wasn't enough money to fund the plan.

That's when the idea came about of asking the taxing districts to pay 33 1/3 percent of the delinquent taxes collected. Usually, the county receives only 10 percent of the tax.

What seemed to peeve Briggs and Hall the most was that the tax hasn't been collected in some areas for 10 years. In Wood River Township, more than $80,000 is owed for the tax, those present at last week's meeting with county officials learned.

"And it turned out to be only two people (who owed the taxes). That kind of swayed the whole thing because we couldn't understand why the county never found these people," Hall said. Until then, most of those present at the meeting had been relatively receptive to at least listening to the plan, he added.

Other questions remained unresolved following the meeting with Henkhaus and assistant state's attorney Sam Xanders.

Hall said he was concerned about senior citizens and others living on fixed incomes who might suddenly find themselves forced to pay back taxes, or end up in court.

He said Xanders told the group last week that county officials would be willing to work with those people to come to a payment agreement. Senior citizens would receive a 20 percent discount under the arrangement.

One township resident wanted to know about the statute of limitations. Hall said he asked Xanders about that. The assistant state's attorney said that, in his opinion, the statute of limitations wouldn't apply. "He said that's his opinion only," Hall added.

Any test of the statute of limitations would have to be determined in court, Hall added.

Henkhaus did remind the municipality officials that the money they were being asked to hand over was on a voluntary basis.

With that in mind, most local officials seemed determined not to assist the county by providing the voluntary funds. Although Nameoki Township took no official action, Briggs said the plan will be discussed and a legal opinion obtained. It seems unlikely, however, that the township will eventually agree to the plan.

Chouteau Township, Venice and Granite City officials all have said they are against the plan.

Most of those opposing the proposal for initially funding the program, express the same opinion as Hall and Briggs — it's the county's problem.

County officials say the tax is hard to enforce because many mobile home owners have moved without paying the tax and now the residents can't be found.

Mobile home park owners, who are supposed to register residents, say they do all they can to keep track of people and maintain proper paperwork.

Chouteau Board authorizes more money for street resurfacing

The Chouteau Town Board of Trustees Monday night agreed to spend an additional $4,000 from Madison County Community Development Funds to complete a project to repair Lola and Veronica streets, located between St. Thomas Road, West Chain of Rocks Road and Route 3.

The original contract was to reshape the streets and ditches, replace culverts and resurface the streets and ditches. After work started in early spring, the contractor and township board met to discuss the need to increase the surface binder by 150 tons for the additional cost. A final coating of one and a quarter inch of blacktop will finish the work, expected to be completed by the end of this month. Walter "Dick" Sparks, township supervisor, told the trustees.

An audit report from R.C. Scheffel & Co. of Edwardsville and Alton was submitted by representatives of the firm and accepted by the trustees.

During the meeting, it was noted that Highway Commissioner Wilfred "Bud" Eberhart is continuing to spray the township areas where there is known active larva in an effort to reduce the number of mosquitoes this summer.

The next regular meeting will be at the township hall on July 25, to convene at 7 p.m.

2 sentences not too lenient, if....

Our initial reaction to the sentencing of two brothers in the August 1982 Zevallos kidnapping case is that, in the words of the judge, the eight-year and indeterminate terms may be "too lenient." We concede the judge's past record has not been overly lenient, and that he had access to much information, including detailed testimony and evaluation of the pair.

Matthew Moore received two eight-year sentences and cannot be released in less than six years; under usual procedures, an 18-year term would have been required to assure minimum detention of six years. Wayne Moore received a six-year term from which he can be freed at any time the Bureau of Prisons concludes he has been rehabilitated.

Both actions July 8 involved the Youth Corrections Act. In February, U.S. District Judge William L. Beaty sentenced the "ring leader" in the eight-day abduction, Don Benny Anderson, to 30 years in prison.

The trio still facing kidnapping and armed robbery charges at a trial here, a development that we have editorially urged.

The three abortion foes viewed themselves as the "Army of God." Before they came to Madison County, there were armed robberies at a Florida clinic and a Texas clinic, a Virginia clinic was bombed, and two Florida clinics burned. A gun was placed threateningly against the head of a Florida doctor.

The brothers have promised to testify against Anderson if charges are filed in other states. In commenting that many people will regard the Moores' sentences as light, the judge said "they are based on their age, obvious lack of sophistication, immaturity, and understanding of the nature and consequences of what they did. They embarked on a mission to correct a moral wrong, but that doesn't lessen their guilt. Regardless of a person's motivation, when it rises to levels of fanaticism, it becomes dangerous and society must be protected against it."

U.S. Attorney Frederick J. Hess hopes the brothers will benefit from the sentences and "cause no further threat to the Zevallos." He quoted the victims as favoring maximum sentences of 40 years for Matthew Moore, who voiced threats to kill them. Hess said the couple's lives "have been interrupted and destroyed. They will always be afraid who is knocking at their door."

The Moores' father showed his sons' literature, including photos of aborted human fetuses, as part of their family training that abortion is murder. An elder, he said his church teaches that breaking the law to achieve a purpose is wrong, but that "the things we tried to teach them could have promoted conditions for active participation."

Taking all into account, we could regard the cumulative punishment as adequate if there is successful prosecution and sentencing on state charges in Madison County. We hope nothing happens to throw the pending case out of court.

No liability for revenue bonds?

(Guest editorial from the Collinsville Herald.)

The cities which blithely issue millions of dollars worth of municipal industrial revenue bonds for all sorts of businesses including hamburger stands and motels, should ponder the experience of the city of Van alia. That city in 1976 authorized $450,000 of city bonds to build a factory for the Tri-Star Company of nearby Pittmore. The city held the mortgage on the building and leases it to the company. The rental is supposed to keep up the payments on the bonds.

The factory manufactures agricultural equipment "goose-neck" trailers and alcohol stills. Their market has been hard hit.

The city was assured that there was no obligation on its part to pay off the bonds. But the company is behind on the rent, so much so that the CITY has defaulted on the bond payments.

One of the two local banks that bought the bonds, some of which were in turn sold to local investors, has sued the city for the defaulted payments.

Even if the city isn't liable for the defaulted bond and interest payments, it faces the cost and trouble of defending a lawsuit.

But the serious damage is to its bond rating. When Vandalia needs to issue bonds for a needed city function, such as a fire station, the underwriters will remember Vandalia as a city that defaulted on its bonds. The rate will go up accordingly.

Highway death toll still too high

Illinois Highway Division records for the first half of 1983 show 676 persons died on Illinois streets and highways.

"Although this is a decrease of 50 from the same period last year, even one traffic fatality is one too many," Captain Bobby L. Henry Sr., District 11 commander, commented Friday.

During June, fatalities in our state totaled 119, including eight in this district — four in St. Clair County three in Madison County, one in Monroe County and none in Clinton and Bond counties. The tally of eight is a reduction of two from June 1982.

Capt. Henry attributed the decrease to strict enforcement of the law against driving while under the influence of alcohol or drugs, reasonable adherence to the 55 miles per hour speed limit, and voluntary compliance with most traffic laws by the motoring public.

Although any gains in curbing traffic deaths are commendable, a tragically large toll continues, underscoring the importance of keeping one's auto under control, wearing seatbelts, conforming to traffic laws, and exercising courtesy and common sense when behind the steering wheel.

Nearly 50,000 lives are still being lost yearly in the United States, with almost half of that sad total linked to drunken driving. There was alcohol in the car involved in Monday's fatal accident in Granite City.

Further actions to improve vehicular and pedestrian safety are essential.

Loans aiding firms in this area

One of the happier news events in recent months has been the formation of the Southwestern Illinois Areawide Business Development Finance Corporation.

At its July 6 meeting, the group's board voted to make possible the investment of more than $5 million in job-creating loans to generate 200 permanent, full-time jobs at small businesses throughout Southwestern Illinois. The corporation serves Madison, St. Clair, Bond, Clinton, Monroe, Randolph and Washington counties.

Loans have been made for business start-ups and expansions, including two manufacturing, three service, and three commercial firms.

As a Small Business Administration 503 certified development company, the SIABDFC — a mighty formidable acronym — is authorized to issue SBA guaranteed debentures and loan the proceeds to qualified local firms.

The board's approved $2 million in debentures, which will leverage more than $3 million in private capital within the region. The president is Ronald W. Wallace of East St. Louis and the secretary is Edwardville Mayor Kenneth J. Evans.

Although loan capability is currently limited to that provided under the SBA 503 program, the corporation plans to acquire its own revolving loan fund through local volunteer capitalization efforts. Such reserves will permit it to participate directly, with its own funds, in granting expansion loans and in attracting capital from other funding sources.

There is solid backing here for its goal: "Make economic development happen in Southwestern Illinois."

Nameoki Township to hear both sides of I-255 debate

The Nameoki Township Board of Trustees will listen to both sides of the controversial debate over the proposed final link of Interstate 255 at the next township meeting, July 25.

Supervisor Harry Briggs told the board and residents Monday night that those for and against I-255 will be represented at the meeting. A representative of the Southern Illinois Builders' Association (SABR), a vocal opposition group, already has appealed to the trustees to support a resolution against I-255. Before Firkus spoke several weeks ago, Briggs adjourned the meeting so that trustees and residents who wanted to could leave. Only Briggs and Trustee Helen Hawkins listened to Firkus in any detail.

By adjourning the meeting, township trustees were under no obligation to take a formal stand about the resolution. Some trustees are openly supportive of I-255, while others, notably Mrs. Hawkins, are very much against it.

In the letter to the township, Tom Garvey of the builders' association, said that a group of landowners living between I-55-70 and 270, a stretch of ground through the American Bottoms that will be used for I-255, are "taking their case to municipalities."

The letter said that Garvey "believes thorough discussion of both sides" would aid the township in making a decision.

Pontoon Beach is, thus far, the only village or city to pass a resolution opposing I-255, although various groups also formally oppose the final link.

The Madison County Board, Glen Carbon, Edwardsville and the Southwestern Illinois Council of Mayors have endorsed the final link.

In other action, the board passed a resolution that closed an account at First National Bank in Madison and opened an account at the Madison County Savings and Loan Association in Collinsville for tax collection. The new location is more accessible to residents in the State

PRIZES TO RIDER

John Mills of Granite City won two tickets for an evening at the Hixson Invitational and a gift package for local businesses by riding 63 miles in the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville bike-a-thon for the American Diabetes Association. He raised $100 for the cause. His name was omitted from a previous press release on the ride.

Park Place area

Also, the board opened five bids for a culvert in the Bellemeor — Miracle Manor subdivision. These bids must be approved by city officials in Edwardsville before a decision is made. Three bids were opened for playground equipment and those bids also must be taken to Edwardsville for approval. The City of Oakview Development Office to look over, Briggs said. The trustees will vote on the bids July 25.

Smart shoppers can save money with coupons

To the Editor:

As a self-induced, informed couponing consumer, I wish to remind you of the fact that the consumer of today is more informed than ever before.

Consumers realize we all pay the price for "all the gimmicks" of "all the food stores." We further realize that store coupons, loss leaders, "TV Specials of the Week," "Bonus Buys," bright lights and dim lights, wide and narrow aisled, bag persons and no-bag persons, etc., are all "gimmicks" to induce us to their respective store.

Consumers want and demand choice. Personally, when I shop where there are no bag persons, I cheerfully bag my purchases.

However, when I shop where there are no bag persons, I still remain cheerful while my purchases are being bagged. I fully understand what affects overhead and food costs at the retail level.

Informed consumers know how to make "gimmicks" work for them. Using my knowledge of your combined "gimmicks" today, I purchased over $10 worth of groceries for $67.

All the advertising I read (in one recent week) by national chain and warehouse food stores contained false information concerning "double-couponing." I urge these retailers to learn the proper usage of the term "double-couponing," to avoid misleading consumers.

Manufacturer coupons are issued for a two-fold purpose — to advertise new products and to induce the buying of products not selling up to "quotas" set.

Approximately $100 billion worth of coupons are issued by manufacturers a year, where as little as only three percent of these are redeemed by consumers. Most consumers realize also that manufacturers redeem these coupons for face amount, plus an additional 7-cents for handling. Simple math tells us that 7-cents times each coupon can add up to large additional profits for the retail store. Who really loses? Neither the manufacturer nor the retailer, for sure.

Consumers will always reward those who are aggressive and innovative when it comes to challenging competition. Should a retailer decide not to meet the competitive challenge, this is OK. However, insulating the intelligence of consumers by misleading advertising is in very poor taste. PS: Smart couponing has replaced my Generic and Off-Brand products with Brand Name quality products — while reducing my Food Budget as much as 20 percent — 25 percent; thus acquainting me with "NEW" products at affordable prices, even in these economic conditions.

Students learning less than their parents

To the Editor:

"For the first time in the history of our country, the educational skills of one generation will not surpass, will not equal, will not even approach, those of their parents." — The National Commission on Excellence in Education.

What's going on here? America has been built on the constancy of progress.

Tomorrow's plane will be faster. The next skyscraper will be taller. Most importantly, our children will be healthier, better off financially, better educated than we were.

Now we are being told that the education of our children is inferior.

The recent commissioner report on the sorry state of American education goes on to warn us that we are falling behind our industrial competitors in Japan and Western Europe.

This revelation is both frightening in its implication for our place in the world and unsettling. We are used to being and having the best. The biggest, the fastest, the (f)est.

Yet, by any standard of measure our elementary and secondary schools are in decline. The average Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores, combining verbal and mathematical ability, declined from 980 in 1963 to 960 in 1980. This while the SATs were actually made easier.

What can account for this decline in academic excellence? Not to mention the increased violence in our nation's classrooms, the epidemic of drug use, and teenage pregnancies.

The politicians in Washington and the educational establishment offer a simple solution: Spend more money.

Former Vice President Mondale has demanded we add $11 billion in federal spending for education. Senator Ernest Hollings (D-S.C.) has gone Mondale one better and endorsed a $14 billion hike.

Since 1950, spending by all levels of government on elementary and secondary education has increased more than 2,000 percent or 20 times — about $6 billion to more than $110 billion.

Per-pupil spending on kindergarten through high school has almost doubled in a decade to $2,917 per student.

We have tried the route of spending ever-increasing sums of taxpayers' dollars and it simply hasn't worked. The same self-styled experts advise us to give more control over budgets, curricula and educational policy to Washington. Yet, since 1983, federal spending for education has increased more than 600 percent in real terms and the Department of Education now spends more than $15 billion each year.

That same department employs more than 5,000 bureaucrats who pull down salaries averaging over $31,000 a year. It has issued edicts, regulations and court injunctions to the point where federal regulations on education now fill 1,000 pages of the Code of Federal Regulations.

But bureaucrats busily building little empires in our nation's capital have not taught our children to read and enjoy Shakespeare. Reams of regulations, have not enabled our sons and daughters to compete in our new technological age.

President Reagan has urged the nation to transfer more responsibility for education back to parents and the 16,000 local school districts across America.

And yes, to the students themselves. This suggestion has been met with a cold shoulder from those who have built their careers — and justified their salaries — by concentrating power and control in Washington.

The decline of our nation's schools occurred just as we were drastically increasing expenditures on education and concentrating more and more authority in Washington. While productivity in the private sector increased 48 percent, the productivity of public education fell by 36 percent as the number of teachers continued to increase, the baby boom ended, and class size dropped.

The National Education Association, with 1.7 million members, has opposed merit pay and competency testing for teachers and standardized tests for students. It is time for parents to realize that giving up control over their children's education to the education establishment was a mistake. It has been awfully expensive, and it didn't work.

Simon could become 2nd GC legislator to reach US Senate

By BILL WINTER of the Press-Record

The field of candidates for U.S. senator from Illinois in the 1984 election is getting more crowded all the time.

Congressman Paul Simon hopes to become the second state legislator serving Granite City, Madison, Venice, Pontoon Beach and Mitchell to advance to the U.S. Senate.

The late State Rep. Ralph T. Smith, who was born here, became speaker of the Illinois House of Representatives before being appointed a U.S. senator by Gov. Richard Ogilvie. Sen. Smith succeeded the late Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and then lost in November 1970 to Adlai Stevenson III, who retired from the Senate in 1980 after serving in Washington for a decade.

When Simon first became a state representative and then a state senator, his Troy residence was in the local legislative district in the Carbondale area.

A Democrat, Simon served as lieutenant governor when Ogilvie, a Republican, was governor. The 1970 Illinois Constitution provides for each party's governor and lieutenant governor to nominate to run as a team, but they ran and won in 1968.

Simon was upset for governor in 1972, losing the Democratic nomination to Daniel Walker, who became governor for a four-year term. Republican James Thompson then won governor races in 1976, 1978 and 1982, the last one a narrow triumph over Stevenson.

Although his loss of the governor primary was a stunning blow, Simon rebounded to become the congressman for the district immediately below the local district served by Cong. Melvin Price.

Simon would be the odds-on favorite for re-election to Congress in 1984, especially since a heavily Democratic area of St. Clair County was added to the 22nd District in the latest reapportionment.

But he told State Rep. Sam Wolf of Granite City July 9 that he will run for the Senate, and press secretary David Carle said the formal announcement is likely to be made next Monday, July 18.

Simon had released several "trial balloons" in recent weeks and received generally favorable responses. He believes that in March 1984 he can defeat State Comptroller Roland W. Burris, who threw his hat in to the senatorial ring this week.

A possible candidate is Illinois Senate Pres. Philip Rock, the state Democratic chairman.

Already in the running is Alex Seith, a Chicago lawyer. Seith was the Democratic nominee in 1978 when Sen. Charles H. Percy, Republican, captured a third six-year term.

Percy, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, is now seeking a fourth term, facing Cong. Thomas Corcoran in the GOP primary.

After losing to Percy by a quarter-million votes, Seith tried again in the 1980 Democratic senatorial primary but lost to Illinois

Secretary of State Alan Dixon, who became the state's junior senator in Washington and is expected to seek re-election in 1986.

Burris, 45, the first black to hold a statewide elective office in Illinois, is in his second term as comptroller. Speaking Monday before a statue of Abraham Lincoln in Chicago's Grant Park, he said he will run on a record of fiscal responsibility and would try to lower the federal deficit.

Simon, 54, has become increasingly optimistic about his chances for victory. He has long been talked of as a potential U.S. senator but has never campaigned directly for the office.

Carle said Simon is talking with party leaders, friends and associates throughout the state and that the indications "are mostly favorable at this time."

Commenting that the Illinois race could make the difference in Democratic efforts to recapture the U.S. Senate after four years of Republican control, Simon said in Carbondale, "Barring something I don't see, I will be a candidate."

Rep. Wolf said Simon told him that the nation can no longer afford "fiscal irresponsibility" in the national election.

Simon has been a government watchdog for more than three decades. He at one time edited the Troy Tribune and other newspapers. He also has experience as a teacher.

While still in his early 20s, he testified before nationally televised anti-crime committee hearings on the Carbondale vice-crime patterns and governmental corruption in this region.

The crime committee was chaired by U.S. Senator Estes Kefauver, who in 1966 was the Democratic vice-presidential nominee on the ticket headed by Illinoisan Adlai Stevenson II. If he becomes a senator, Simon undoubtedly would be regarded as a presidential or vice-presidential possibility.

He gained wide recognition on the East Coast when he spoke out, while an Illinois state legislator, against lobbying tactics and vote-buying allegations at Springfield.

Although national visibility is more difficult to achieve as one of 435 congressmen than as one of 100 senators, Simon is in the news this week as chairman of a U.S. House task force on merit pay for teachers and as chairman of the House subcommittee on higher education. He has two college-age children, a daughter and son.

Partly due to a vocal stand by Pres. Ronald Reagan, merit pay has become a burning issue in debates over how to maintain and improve education in the U.S. "Master teachers" would receive pay beyond their basic salaries under some merit proposals.

As Simon began hearings Monday, he said, "I don't see it (merit pay) as the answer to our education problems. It's a piece of the puzzle. Too much emphasis is being placed on it right now."

"Some people are looking on it as a cure-all, but additional incentives are essential in addition to upgrading pay. We ought to thank teachers more."

Along with suggesting greater recognition and honor for teachers, with gratitude voiced directly to them by parents, Simon thinks citizens ought to work closely with school boards, keep a watchful eye on curricula, and advocate major attention to mathematics, science and foreign languages.

He is an author, and one of his books deals with the low number of Americans proficient in the languages of other countries.

Simon has always run strongly among minority voters, but Burris also would do well in Chicago, where black voters were a big factor in electing former congressman Harold Washington as mayor.

In the Democratic primary, Washington defeated two strong opponents, the incumbent mayor, who was a woman, and the son of the late Richard Daley, longtime Chicago mayor.

Burris was the leading vote-getter among all on the ballot in the November 1982 Illinois election, attracting more than 2,300,000 votes. It was the third highest total in this state's history.

A poll commissioned by Simon and taken during the last week of May showed Simon backed by 36 percent of Democrats, Burris 25 percent, Rock 10 percent and Seith 10 percent.

About a third of Illinoisans are Democrats, a fourth are Republicans, and two-fifths are independents.

Chief contenders for the Illinois Democratic Central Committee endorsement are believed to be Simon and Rock.

As Simon learned in 1972 after his active four-year term as lieutenant governor and as the unofficial state ombudsman, state party slating sometimes is not sufficient to assure success.

But this time he would take no chances and might campaign virtually house-to-house, the technique that enabled him to first gain elective office here despite the opposition of Madison County Democratic leaders.

4 exempted from pay cut

The 10 percent pay cut for Granite City school administrators in 1983-84 has been waived for a fourth administrator, Custodial Supervisor Boyd D. McCombs.

The Board of Education earlier exempted from the salary reduction Food Service Director Michael Kanak, Insurance Supervisor Karen Szedlar and Accounting Services Supervisor Marcella Pilcher.

The adjustments would have reduced supervisory pay levels below those of some of the employees being supervised.

The gymnasium at Granite City Senior High School is being made available in late July for agility testing of Granite City fire department job applicants.

The board has approved sale of 2,273 surplus library books to Metro-East Lutheran High School for $1,500. Librarians had determined the books were of no further use to the Granite City district due to duplication or obsolescence.

Competitive bids are being obtained for consideration July 19 on acquisition of a tractor. An existing tractor, bought in 1967, is used to cut grass on 550 acres of school grounds each week.

Lawsuits are pending against the school district, motions regarding executive discussions have indicated.

Legal hassle over firing of worker

By GEORGEANN MCGEE
of the Press-Record

A sewage treatment plant operator's fight to regain his lost job has mushroomed to involve:

— A challenge to the council's authority to fire employees.

— The touchy question of friendship versus political influence.

The matter of a hurriedly called, then aborted, circuit court hearing that was postponed to allow the case to go through the regular court procedures for assigning cases. The hearing might have resulted in the employee's reinstatement and rendered needless an arbitration hearing on alleged job violations set for the following day.

The dismissal of Robert E. Gaughan, 2718 Center St., a Granite City Wastewater Treatment Plant employee, had initially been treated so delicately that his name was not mentioned at the June 21 meeting when he was fired. Thirteen of the 14 aldermen voted, rather, to terminate "the individual in question." The fourteenth alderman abstained.

Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk, wastewater plant committee chairman, said he recommended Gaughan's firing to the council after receiving similar advice from Terrance McMillan, plant superintendent.

Fisk said his public motion for the plant worker's dismissal did not include Gaughan's name to avoid embarrassment to the employee, who had not yet gone through an anticipated arbitration hearing.

Gaughan brought the issue out in the open himself late Friday afternoon when he authorized his attorney, William E. Brandt of Granite City, to file an injunction against the city, asking the court to rescind the aldermen's dismissal order. The petition said the mayor had the sole authority to select and discharge city employees.

Mayor Paul Schuler has taken no public action on the matter, but commented Wednesday that he "didn't think the (alleged) violations were sufficient for dismissal. I think there was a gray area."

He did acknowledge

Gaughan earlier had signed a "last chance" agreement, prior to his dismissal. Plant Superintendent Terrance McMillan said he based his recommendation to fire Gaughan on an alleged violation of one of the three clauses contained in the letter of agreement negotiated between the mayor and the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local 325. McMillan said he was not consulted on the contents of the letter his department employee signed.

Schuler said he does not see the disputed firing as a political issue "not at all," although he said he does have personal ties to the Gaughan family. "His father was one of my first baseball managers," the mayor said he has known young Gaughan since he was a child. He said that relationship has made the current job situation "pretty difficult."

The younger Gaughan ran unsuccessfully for a county board seat for District 21. He is a past employee of the county circuit clerk's office and the Metro-East Sanitary District.

Waiting in a Granite City courtroom for county Circuit Judge George J. Moran Jr. to hear the injunction petition Monday morning, Gaughan said he did not want to discuss the circumstances leading to his dismissal while the matter was subject to litigation and arbitration. He did say he disagreed with job allegations made against him and would explain his position after the hearings.

Others present in the courtroom were Judge Moran; John Papa, city attorney; Irvin State, assistant city attorney; Brandt, representing Gaughan, and McMillan and Comptroller Joseph Miklovic, city officials.

Speakers included Fisk and Second Ward Alderman Sam Whitmer.

At about the time the 11 a.m. hearing was set to begin, the judge and lawyers left the room for approximately an hour. Papa later emerged to tell McMillan the court had decided to postpone hearing the injunction.

Moran said he had determined the injunction was not an emergency and that the case should go through the normal court channels for an assignment of a judge by Chief Judge A. Andreas Mateosian. "All cases, generally speaking, go through the chief judge," Judge Moran said. "The case has never been assigned to me."

The judge said he was under the impression that both parties were in agreement to have the case heard prior to Gaughan's firing arbitration hearing set for the day after Tuesday, and that a court date had been set for Monday.

Judge Mateosian said cases of this type are usually heard in East Alton, but, in emergency matters, exceptions can be made. He said either he or his assistant generally make case assignments to judges, but that there are no hard and fast rules on the matter.

"It's no big deal if that procedure is not followed, but that's the procedure we prefer," the chief judge said. Judge Moran called him Monday afternoon to discuss the issue, Mateosian commented, and said the case will be assigned a judge for a future hearing.

Fisk said he was surprised to receive a letter Saturday informing him of the Monday hearing. He said he did not know that the council's right to fire employees was not legally assured. "I think for a good checks and balances system, it should have that way," he said.

If the future hearing on the city's right to dismiss city workers is lost, Fisk said, he could support a city ordinance relating to giving aldermen that authority.

The results of the Gaughan arbitration hearing are expected in about two weeks, but if Gaughan wins his injunction, that could affect the validity of that decision.

"That's another legal issue," Brandt said. "I don't want to get into it at this stage of the game."

GC gets $473,612

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler said his trip to Washington, D.C., to appeal for federal disaster funds to repair sewer breaks has paid off rather nicely. He confirmed Wednesday the city will receive $473,612.

The mayor said he is "very pleased" with the amount, which is approximately 75 percent of the city-projected costs to repair 13 of its more than 18 breaks.

The money will come from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) as the result of Granite City's disaster status following the flooding here this spring.

Schuler said the funds will be used as soon as preliminary engineering studies can be completed. The sewer status following the flooding here this spring.

'Super Kid'

needs an afternoon nap to continue his busy child's routine of playing with toys, investigating new areas of the house and whatever makes a youngster keep moving.

Mrs. Johnnie said, "I think we were very lucky during the winter and early spring months, since Adam had only two colds and they were not really very bad. He does so well that we do take him shopping and to visit with friends and relatives on occasions."

To celebrate his first birthday Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie gave a party for their son, attended by many friends and relatives. Balloons with his name inscribed were tied in clusters to decorate the family room of the Johnnie residence, reminiscent of the day Adam came home from the hospital and brightly-colored balloons were used as a welcome home sign.

half of the police department. "Mayor Echols said.

In the 1983-84 budget, a total of $212,304 (up only $540 from last year) is listed for salaries and allowances and $324,730 for salaries and expenses in the police department (up $500 from the 1982-83 budget).

"These fellows have my sympathy, but they'll have it even more if we have to cut them," he added, speaking of employees who have been seeking a raise.

"You can never tell what we've got coming in through Federal Revenue Sharing and if they ever cut revenue sharing, you might as well close shop," the mayor stated.

Venice Treasurer J. Alan Gardner said that under the present Federal Revenue Sharing Act, the last authorized payment is expected to be received by the city about Oct. 7.

First Ward Alderman Phillip Daniels asked, "Is there any possible way we should be looking at alternatives now?"

"The only solution I can see to our financial problems is business. That's why the Enterprise Zone concept was so important to us," the mayor replied. (Venice lost out in this year's Enterprise Zone program). "I guess we aren't the only ones, but I can't cry over them (others whose applications were rejected).

"It looks bad, awfully bad, for us and there's no way you could get the taxpayers to pay enough to make up $194,000, that would be an enormous tax. You are looking at an increase of about $500 a year, in addition to what they are paying now, just to break even."

"We may be looking at the last of the Community Development funds also, unless they choose to do something about it in Congress," the mayor added. The question of raising taxes surfaced later in the meeting when Alderman Daniels asked what procedures the city would have to go through to hold a tax referendum.

"Taxes is a nasty word to bring up, but it may come to that point where people will have to decide whether they want reduced services or higher taxes," the mayor said. "If a cutback does occur, it means the curtailment of services," he added.

"If we lose in excess of $194,000, that's a pretty penny for a city this size. When you look at the total budget, it may not seem that much out of $1.3 million, but there are items in there (the budget) that we don't expect to get," he added.

"All I can say, if you go and talk to SUPER KID. Adam Johnnie flashes a dimpled grin on his first birthday, standing in his bed, amid a collection of new toys and other gifts given to the youngster by friends and relatives. Hospitalized for six months after birth at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis, the little boy has grown 13 inches and now weighs 15 pounds, as compared to his birth weight of 2 pounds, 12 ounces. the public in their homes, you'd better wear some armored suits, but I think we'd better feel the pulse of the people in regards to taxation," he advised the aldermen.

The 1983-84 appropriation ordinance of $1,294,228 is $22,046 higher than the budget last year.

The increase in the new budget is primarily reflected by a $13,000 raise in the garbage collection fund, an $8,915 upswing in the public library fund and a $2,000 increase in utility expenses for the Venice City Hall.

A $450 increase for utilities in the streets and alleys fund, plus $500 more for convention expense in the police department, account for the additional monies in the new budget.

The new appropriation ordinance was adopted, as proposed, in the council's regular session.

Amounts of the individual funds, with the difference over the previous budget shown in parenthesis, are:

Streets and alleys, $212,304 (up $540); police department, $324,730 (up $500); city officers salaries, expenses, fees, $30,283 (same); legal department, $14,410, same; insurance, $71,800 (same); printing, $2,550 (same); sanitary and health, $8,250 (same); city hall, $52,975 (up $2,000); auditing, $4,000 (same); street lighting, $24,000 (same); water, $300 (same). Fire department, $84,046 (up $150); garbage collection, $118,396 (up $13,000); police pension fund, $82,593 (same); public library, $52,400 (up $8,915); Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, $81,941 (down $3,659); emergency services (civil defense), $2,950 (same); services for aged, $15,000 (same); public health, $15,000 (same); planning and zoning, $1,000 (same); and contingency fund, $35,000 (same).

Five board posts on this fall's ballot

Five positions of the Granite City Board of Education are to be filled in the November 1983 election—three four-year terms and two two-year terms.

Including two holdover positions on the board—Monroe Worthen and Thomas Mlosky won four-year terms in 1981—four board posts will be subject to election in 1983. Three positions will be decided in 1987.

Some of the incumbents are expected to seek reelection this year but have not yet announced their intentions. Several have not decided whether to seek four-year or two-year terms. Those with terms expiring are President Donald Stucke, Secretary George Moore, Treasurer Dewey Melton, David Farney and Robert Maxwell.

Uncertainty has developed over the plans of Melton, 44, a member with 5½ years of experience on the board. He was hospitalized July 8 for probable heart bypass surgery late this week.

All the board members have undergone some stress in recent months associated with a major revenue-spending imbalance and the related decision to close six of the 18 schools prior to the new term opening Aug. 23.

Many employees, parents and school board members have expressed their views on school problems to board members.

North High School has been leased to Belleville Area College as a two-year college center and the district is placing metal over windows and doors to "mothball" idle elementary schools. Whether to sell or lease unused school buildings remains to be decided.

Next Tuesday's board agenda is described as "busy" but containing no unusual items. An updated report is to be given in executive session on negotiations, which are in progress with most employee groups. All of the existing agreements expired July 30.

Basic budget and tax decisions have been made by state legislators, affecting schools' income, but it is not yet clear what bargaining provisions will be in effect for schools and other public bodies.

Boards throughout the state are curbing about the precise wording that Gov. James H. Thompson will approve for mediation and arbitration in the event of any stalemate school negotiations in Illinois. He has power to sign bills, veto them in their entirety, or "improve" them with line vetoes.

Lincoln Athletic Club plans weekend reunion

The 80th anniversary of the founding of Lincoln Place will be celebrated on July 22, 23 and 24, at various activities during the weekend, sponsored by the Lincoln Athletic Club.

An informal gathering is planned for 7 o'clock Friday evening, July 22, at the Armenian Club, 821 Niedringhaus Ave., as the initial event.

On Saturday night there will be a dinner dance at the Venice-Madison American Legion featuring music for dancing by the Porzecowski Band. Cocktails are planned for 6 p.m. with dinner at 7 p.m. Tickets costing $8 per person may be purchased from any member of the host club or by calling Lee Ambuehl at 431-6284, Vassil Georgieff at 931-4134 or Jake Varadani at 877-4522.

An outdoor festival will be featured on Sunday at the Community Center, 820 Niedringhaus Ave., where ethnic foods and other booths will be available to the public. The Good Times Band will play for the street dance to be held from 6 to 10 p.m., according to Jake Varadani, club president.

Mayors will hear State Rep. Flinn

Mayor Richard Brauer will host the next meeting of the Southern Illinois Council of Mayors on Wednesday, July 27, at Fischer's Restaurant, 2100 W. Main St., Belleville. The hospitality hour begins at 5 p.m., dinner at 7 and the meeting at 8.

Mayor Brauer has arranged to have State Rep. Monroe Flinn, as speaker. His topic will be "Actions Taken in the Last Session of the General Assembly." Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler is president of the Council of Mayors.

Debate merits of mobile home tax collection plan

By TORI WHITEHEAD

Representatives of area taxing bodies told Madison County Treasurer Michael "Mick" Henkhaus last week that they think giving up one-third of delinquent mobile home privilege taxes will set a bad precedent.

As one township assessor said, "If we agree to this for the mobile home tax, next year you'll say you need the money for rabies control."

The meeting between county officials and mobile home park owners, township assessors and spokesmen for taxing bodies was conducted by Henkhaus and Assistant State's Attorney Sam Xanders.

Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith, who called for the session, was not present.

The county board decided June 15 to begin enforcing the tax, which has been neglected because of difficult collection procedures. It is estimated that more than $700,000 in delinquent mobile home privilege taxes is owed county-wide.

However, the county cannot afford to finance the crackdown. Therefore, the county has asked taxing bodies to allow it to retain 33 and one-third percent of the delinquent taxes collected until the program becomes self-sufficient. The county usually receives only 10 percent of the tax.

The percentage will be levied only against collected back taxes, not on taxes which are paid on time.

The tax also is known as the Local Services Use Tax.

Although there were to be two meetings that night, the first between the county and the park owners and the second between the county and taxing bodies—all the interested parties arrived at once.

The meeting was at times chaotic, with people speaking out of turn, and officials trading barbs.

Park owners said they agree the tax needs to be collected, pointing out that it was the Mobile Home Association that called for the tax in the first place in 1975.

They said they are doing all they can to keep track of park residents and fill out the necessary paperwork.

Henkhaus said that more than $15,000 is owed in Collinsville Township. He said the county is charging 12 percent interest per year on the back taxes.

Henkhaus said 600 letters mailed but July 1 to mobile home owners owing back taxes represent only about half the number of past due accounts. He said about 1,200 mobile home residents did not pay last year.

He added that the bills did not include taxes for this year. The 600 letters represent about $200,000 in delinquent taxes, according to Henkhaus.

Henkhaus was asked if prior citizens being billed back through 1973 would be "sucked all at once" for the tax. He replied, "Well, they owe it." He added, however, that the county would have to approach the accounts on an individual basis. He said that many people on a fixed-income pay their real estate taxes.

Xanders said the 20 percent discount available to seniors will be awarded for back years, if the needed affidavits are filed with the county.

Questions were raised concerning mobile homes sold in mid-year. The law makes the person living in the home Jan. 1 responsible for the full year's tax. Xanders said splitting up the tax is a matter strictly between the buyer and seller.

Xanders said that military personnel are exempt from the tax under the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief Act passed after World War II.

Henkhaus said most park owners are very cooperative in helping collect the tax and in paying their own taxes. However, he said that two persons in Wood River Township owe more than $45,000 between them and one of them is an owner.

Henkhaus was asked why those accounts had been allowed to accumulate. Xanders said it was because the county board only passed an ordinance June 15 to enforce the law.

One park owner countered, however, that the county ordinance was not vital to enforcement and that the law could have been enforced before under the state statutes. Xanders said he agreed.

Henkhaus told the group of about 50 people that the law is difficult to enforce and that Madison County is not unique in letting the tax slide. He said only one county in the state, Champaign County, has had any success in collection. He said Madison County's will be modeled Champaign's.

Part of the problem, Henkhaus said, is that the present law requires the tax to be delinquent a full year before prosecution.

He said he has been working with the Illinois Manufactured Housing Association to get legislation whereby the local sheriff's department can send in home after the tax has been delinquent for six months.

Hamel Village Board Trustee Ron Mulach told Henkhaus, "You've got the hammer to hit these people with right now, without the money."

He appeared to be expressing the opinion of most government officials present.

Granite City Township Assessor Von Dee Cruse told Henkhaus that most of the meetings had budget problems.

"I don't know how the county could even ask when this is the county's responsibility," he said. "Granite City Township can use the money as well as the county." Cruse said regarding the 33 and one-third percent the county hopes to retain.

Henkhaus also was asked how the county plans to distribute the collected back taxes if less than all the taxing bodies go along with the plan.

"We hope everybody goes along," Henkhaus said. "The only government representative to seriously approve the plan was from Bethalto."

Let's say we've got $6,000 owed to us. What you're saying is that we'd sacrifice $2000 to get $4000? What's wrong with that?" he said.

Most spokesmen expressed thoughts like those of Dick Sparks, Chouteau Township Supervisor, who told Henkhaus, "I think we're sticking our necks out, walking into a trap. Personally, I'm here to tell you that Chouteau won't send you a letter agreeing to the plan."

Collinsville Mayor Gene Bromblich left the meeting after only 45 minutes. He said later he did not think it was much of a meeting.

Suggestions as to how better to collect the tax were discussed, including involving zoning officials to help keep track of mobile homes on private property.

Xanders said he has asked the state for a list of all mobile home parks and licensed dealers in the county. He added that the list will not include those parks with five or less mobile homes.

Henkhaus said he thought the meeting was good in that everyone got a chance to express his or her feelings on the tax.

He added that those asking why the county has not cracked down on nonpayers before now are not doing much of a job.

Henkhaus said later that the decision by taxing bodies to go along with the plan or not is very political. He said his office will "go after" taxes owed in cooperating taxing districts first.

Henkhaus said the county collected $6,900 between July 5 and 7. He added that the county will get its normal 10 percent on that money.

Henkhaus said he thinks there have been about 10 to 15 taxing bodies agreeing to the plan, which the county is calling a "gentlemen's agreement."

He said there is no deadline for the taxing bodies to respond. He added that those taxing bodies which decide to go along with the plan at a later date will be allowed to do so.

Concerned Citizens host social meeting on Monday

Refreshments, fellowship and entertainment will be the order for the Monday evening Madison, Concerned Citizens meeting, according to MCC President W. F. "Mick" Strange.

The meeting begins at 7 p.m. Monday at Polish Hall in Madison. Refreshments are being served by Voloski Catering.

In addition to some "get acquainted" type activities, special entertainment has been planned, Strange said. Todd Jones of Granite City, who recently was featured in the Press-Record, will entertain the group with classical guitar selections.

Todd, age 17, won first place in regional competition in a field of 1,000 young musicians from a seven state area, playing guitar, violin, viola and cello.

According to Strange,

"those who have heard Todd play and his musical talents." His enjoyment of music is always well received by audiences. Strange noted.

Residents of Madison are welcome to attend the July social meeting and meet the many fine active members of the group. One thing that makes MCC so effective is that the membership comes from all geographical areas in Madison, with ages of members from 18 to well over 80, Strange concluded.

The Madison Concerned Citizens is a public awareness group organized in 1981. Currently, the MCC is promoting a "Watch Our Kids" campaign. The purpose of the safety drive is to make sure that all parents to drive extra slow and careful in residential areas, particularly while school is out.

Jaycee women meet, plan fund raisers

The Granite City Jaycee Women recently hosted Regional Director Vickie Steinbuegge and Pat Melton from the Highland JCW during a meeting called to order by president Marilyn Beyer.

Invocation was given by Debbie Getz and the Pledge of Allegiance was led by Anita Hahne. Carolyn Jones read minutes from the previous meeting and gave the treasurer's report. State Director Debbie Getz reported that five of the Granite City members qualified for the Springfield Award.

The five are Marilyn Beyer, Anita Hahne, Carolyn Jones, Debbie Getz and Fay Engel. The award is earned within the first 90 days after a member joins the Jaycee Women.

Members discussed the sidewalk sale and the July 4 booth and agreed that they had enjoyed themselves and would like to work on the projects annually.

It was decided that a car wash and canister drive will be conducted Saturday, July 16, to raise money for the Southwestern Illinois Epilepsy Association's educational program. Both fund raisers will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The car wash will be behind the Ponderosa Steakhouse, 1511 Johnson Road, and the canister drive will be on Namechi, Pontoon and Johnson roads.

In other business, Marilyn Beyer was notified that State President Lorraine Coughlin is in the hospital and the group agreed to send flowers and best wishes for her speedy recovery.

The next regular meeting will be at 7 p.m., Thursday, July 21, at the Granite City Jaycees Clubhouse, 1855 Poplar St. New members are welcome to attend.

PROGRAMS:

Personal Dynamics.

What is success? Why do some succeed while others fail? How can I get what I want out of life?

Personal Dynamics deals with these and other questions that must be dealt with in order for an individual to maximize personal potential. Personal Dynamics studies self-image and its effect on a person's life. The program emphasizes self-evaluation, goal setting and personal planning. Personal Dynamics then surveys several areas of personal growth skills that, if applied, will enable the participant to more effectively achieve his own personal success.

Leadership Dynamics.

Are leaders born or trained? What motivates people to act? Which style is best, dictator or vote taker? How do you handle non-performers? What are the responsibilities of leadership?

Leadership Dynamics is a program to help the Jaycee participant evaluate his present leadership abilities and effectively identify leadership skills that will aid him in the future. The program helps the individual understand the process of leadership, leadership styles, and how these can be put to use.

Leadership Dynamics explores basic human behavior and why the leader must understand why people behave as they do. This understanding is then used in motivating people. A leader must be an effective manager of people and Leadership Dynamics provides the basics.

Communication Dynamics.

What is communication? Do you say what I hear? Did I say what you heard? How do I listen effectively? How can I remember names better?

Surveys have shown that as much as 85 percent of a person's success in life is determined by his ability to effectively communicate with people. Communication Dynamics will be a positive step along the way for the members of your chapter.

Communication Dynamics was developed to aid Jaycees in improving their daily communications. The program gives the participant a firsthand look at interpersonal communication and human relations. Some of the topics covered in Communication Dynamics are self-image, understanding, empathy, listening, name memory, communication skills, reading and writing.

Personal Financial Planning Guide.

When should you plan your finances? What makes money important? How are goals important to financial planning? How much savings is enough? Why should you have a will? How many credit cards are enough?

The Personal Financial Planning Guide can help answer those questions for the members of your chapter.

The Personal Financial Planning program is not a "how to get money" program. It is a program to help you develop a personal financial plan and thereby use the money you now have more effectively. Topics covered include: why plan, important documents, where to keep them, evaluation of where you are now, financial goal setting, income and expense plans, will, insurance, savings, investments, banking, credit and money-saving ideas.

The Personal Financial Planning program will give your members the basis for developing a sound financial plan.

The Personal Financial Planning Manual, catalog No. 693-1, is available from The U.S. Jaycees Marketing Department.

Speak-Up.

The purpose of the Speak-Up program is to provide each Jaycee the opportunity to develop individual self-confidence and improve his verbal communication skills. Speak-Up is a tool that your chapter can use to provide each member the chance to improve his speaking skills through practical experience. It allows each participant to learn and practice basic speaking skills so that he can minimize any "stage fright" that he may experience.

It should be noted that Speak-Up is a personal development experience, not simply a competitive program. Many chapters hold competitions, but Speak-Up is divided into three parts:

Step One is a group of activities to help the Jaycee to become comfortable speaking while in a group. Activities include: leading the Jaycees Creed, giving a brief project report, self-introduction, introducing a guest, discussing a motto, etc.

Step Two is for members who are ready to speak with an opportunity for feedback through constructive criticism. Activities include the following types of speeches: table topics, impromptu, prepared with an assigned topic and time limit (three minutes, for example), and presentations centered on a life from the Jaycees Creed.

Step Three is for the Jaycee who seriously wishes to develop as a public speaker. Suggested activities involve competing in speech competition and debates or joining a Toastmasters group.

Family Life Series.

"No other success can compensate for failure in the home."

We are blessed for our failures even though we were never trained for success. Because of this the heavy emphasis on the strengthening of the Jaycee family unit through an educational process. There are, at present, two group discussion programs in the Family Life Series - Prime Time and Positive Family Attitude Power. Each of these programs is designed for discussion groups made up of couples. They are not "how to have a happy marriage" programs, but rather rap sessions on the things that affect us as marriage partners.

Prime Time.

The purpose of the Prime Time program is to encourage discussion and study of the serious issues about marriage, parenthood, and family life. Areas covered in the program include: how to be a family, marriage roles and expectations, growth and change, child communications, children as members of the family, habits and haws for family life, and an approach to creating a positive plan for family development. An appendix with an expanded reference of publications, books, and associations is included, along with a brief section with family quotes and poetry. Trying it together with Family Time, they make a terrific combination!

Spiritual Development.

The first line of the Jaycees Creed states, "We believe: That faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life. To give life to that statement, Jaycees are encouraged to examine their own faith in ways that are meaningful to them."

An Emerson states, "God enters by a private door into every individual." The thrust of the Jaycees' Spiritual Development Concept is that rather than programming spiritual development, we are concentrating on a people-to-people exchange of attitudes and ideas. This exchange through involvement in Jaycees activities has led to, and will continue to, stimulate members to be aware of the importance of spiritual involvement in their lives.

"By following the good you learn to be good."

Zukas hurls no-hitter as Triplets near playoffs

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record

TROY — Granite City's Tri-City American Legion baseball team has had its problems this year with pitching. There are too few pitchers and too many games.

But this week, with the District 22 playoffs beginning next week, Tri-City's pitching is the best it's been this season.

Tuesday night, at Troy's Township Park, Tri-City's southpaw Mike Zukas hurled a 7-0 no-hitter at Troy Legion Post 708. The night before, at Granite City North, right-hander Dan Whitsett threw a five-hit 5-1 victory over East Alton. The victories were Tri-City's 14th and 15th of the season in 22 outings.

With things on the upswing for Tri-City, Coach Larry Corey, is understandably optimistic as the playoffs near.

complained of a sore elbow, walked the first two batters. Those two walks coupled with a pair of errors by Triplet second baseman Kevin Patterson and a sacrifice fly by Troy's Bill Garringer closed the door on what would have been the Triplets' first shutout of the year.

For Zukas, however, there was still room for celebration. It was his first ever no-hit performance. His previous best was a one-hit effort which he recorded as a freshman at Granite City High School South.

"This is great," Zukas said, "especially after my last two games." Zukas said referring to matchups against Edwardsville and Collinsville. Tri-City lost both of those games.

"I felt pretty good coming in here," said the left-handed pitcher. "I seemed more relaxed and I also stretched before the game. But other than that I didn't do anything differently."

For Zukas, a 1982 graduate of Granite City South, both his curve ball and his fastball were working to perfection. Zukas' offerings Tuesday consisted of first the curve ball and then followed up with a breaking ball.

Currently, Tri-City is in third place in the District 22 standings, behind Edwardsville and Alton. Depending on the outcome of both of those teams' games this week, Tri-City could still finish in first place, ahead of both of those teams. But to do that, both must lose.

In any case, even a third place finish would guarantee the Triplets a position in the double-elimination bracket of the playoffs.

On its way to victory, Tri-City scattered nine hits, four of them coming in its three-run third inning.

Clean-up batter, John Linhart led off the second inning with a double to left field. He advanced to third when Troy's right-handed hurler Sonny O'Connell balked.

Vince Mitchell picked up the RBI to score Linhart with a deep smash to right field. Patterson reached on an error and Scott Corey moved him to third with a single to center field.

Whitsett scored Patterson with a single to deep left field as the Triplets took a 2-0 lead.

Dave Sheik, who has been on a terror lately at the plate, was Tri-City's lead-off designated hitter. Sheik blasted a double to score Corey to put Tri-City on top 3-0.

The Triplets responded with another trio of runs in the third inning. All-State catcher Dan DePew led them off with a high chopper up the middle for an infield hit. Linhart and Patterson walked to lead the bases and then Corey, on a dead run, managed to get the inning to Corey to force in DePew.

Whitsett made it 5-0 as he managed a bloop single to short right center field to score Linhart.

Tri-City made it an even half dozen as Milt Roe blasted a sacrifice fly to deep center field to score Patterson. The inning ended as O'Connell struck out Sheik.

After Zukas sent down the Troy side in order in the bottom of the third, Tri-City responded for one more run in its half of the fourth.

Following Brian Levin's ground out to O'Connell, DePew slapped a triple to right field. Troy's right fielder, Paul Henson, on a dead run, managed to get a glove on the ball, but it wasn't enough and the line shot escaped to the fence.

With DePew safely at third, Linhart advanced to first on an infield hit, but it was Mitchell who responded with the RBI single to short right center field which scored DePew for what turned out to be the Triplets' final score of the game.

Aside of its three-run seventh inning, Troy efforts were nothing to brag about. The loss dropped its record to 8-13 in the North division, sixth behind

Four Triplets named to All-Star team

Four members of the Tri-City American Legion baseball team Post 113 are among the 24 athletes named to the District 22-North Division All-Star team. The All-Star game, which will feature the best of the North against the best of the South Division is slated for Aug. 2 at 6:30 p.m. at Alton's Gordon Moore Park.

Triplets named to the team include John Linhart, outfield, batting .302; Daren DePew, catcher, batting .324; Vince Mitchell, infield, batting .382; and Dave Sheik, outfield, batting .424. Sheik's average is the second highest among North division All-Stars. Only Troy's, Sonny O'Connell's is higher, .448.

The number of All-Stars from each team is relative to the team's standings in North Division. Division leading Edwardsville has five athletes named to the squad, while second and third place Alton and Granite City each have four.

Representing Edwardsville will be Brian Clawson, pitcher, 6-1, Kevin King, second base, batting .306, Dave Veth, catcher, batting .350, Greg Coligan, outfield, batting .333, and Randy Williams, infield, also batting .333. Alton's representatives include Dan Hopkins, infield, batting .382, Jeff Juhlin, infield, .367, Dave Stupperich, outfield, batting .386, and Chris Maher, pitcher, 7-1.

Fourth place Collinsville will have three athletes on the All-Star squad. They include pitcher Doug Fish who has a 3-4 record, Tom Lewis, pitcher, batting .369, and Marc Parker, infield, batting .403.

Highland, Troy, East Alton and Bethalto will each receive two player berths into the All-Star game.

Representing Highland in the annual contest will be Jeff Schulte, outfield, batting .342, and Joe Brinker, pitcher, .44.

Troy's representatives are O'Connell, catcher, batting .448, and Jeff Sures, outfield, .356.

For East Alton John Pearson and Shane Gibbs were selected as representatives. Pearson is a pitcher-infielder and Gibbs is an outfielder with an average of .419.

Paul Stander, infielder, .419, and Brian Kasting, outfielder, batting .350 will round out the All-Star squad. Both are representatives of the Bethalto squad.

The manager of the North All-Star squad is Edwardsville's Ken Schaake. Coaches include Alton's Jesse Hopkins and Granite City's Larry Corey. The manager and coaches were selected according to team standings.

Teams of the South Division include Marissa, Waterloo, East St. Louis, Belleville, Fairview Heights, Smithton, O'Fallon and Cahokia.

Tickets for the game are $1.

A Sports Special

For Crone, toughest competition still ahead Influenced to excel by foster mother

By ROGER KRAMER
of the Press-Record

Few junior high track and field athletes were able to match or surpass Grigby Junior High's Gary Crone the last two years.

Not only has he surpassed his peers in northwestern Illinois, he is one of the best track athletes in his age group in the nation. In The Athletic Congress (TAC) national track and field finals in Dayton, Ohio, he finished second in the triple jump (40-4), fourth in the high jump (5-8) and fifth in the 400 meters (53.7) in the 13-14 age group.

The stiffest challenge for Crone is yet to come. Next spring, Crone will be a freshman at Granite City High School. During the next four years he'll have to cut at least three seconds off his 400 meter, add three to four feet to his triple jump and add another foot to the high jump to be a serious contender for state championships.

If Crone's future goes the same direction as his past, he's likely to match and surpass those marks.

Crone's first experience with jumping was at the Collinsville elementary school sports day. As a fifth grader, he won the long jump. Although he wasn't overly interested in track in sixth grade, the spark was there for his success in at Grigby.

At that time, he, along with his brothers and sisters, were moved to a foster home. Ruby Barker, his foster mother, became an important influence on his track career.

Mrs. Barker, known as "Grandma" by the Crone children, has pushed Gary to pursue further goals in track.

"Grandma Barker really takes care of us, and this year, she has really encouraged me," Crone said. "She told me if I didn't practice at home or if I don't go to practice, I wouldn't be able to get better."

Although she didn't have the opportunity to be an athlete in her youth, Mrs. Barker was known as "Popeye" by her male classmates. According to the stories she has told Gary, she was able to walk a block on her hands.

"I really don't think I would have done as well as I have if I hadn't been with her," he said. "She really cares a lot."

The Grigby track record board also served as a motivation, and he went out to break those records.

Crone originally ran the 100 meter hurdles at Grigby, but one day, there was no one to run the 400 meters, so his coaches moved him for that event. He won the race, and the 400 meter dash has remained a specialty.

So far, his best time in the 400 meters is 52.2 seconds in a relay. His best triple jump is 40-5, his best long jump in 19-6 and his best high jump is 5-10.

Although Mrs. Barker has been an important influence in Gary's track career, she has not been the only one. He credited his grandparents, Admiral and Jean Crone, for encouraging him to get involved in athletics.

At the coaching level, probably Sam Nesbitt, an assistant track coach at Grigby this year, has been the biggest influence.

"Coach Nesbitt has helped me a lot," Crone said. "Sam has given me a lot of encouragement, and he's told me I have a lot of talent and how I can get better."

The other major coaching influence has been Bob Hyten of Edwardsville, the coach of the Gateway East Track Club. "He's really helped me on my strides in the 400 meters."

At the moment, Crone is running in the Track Summer Series decathlon at Belleville East High School. In his age group competition, he leads his nearest competitor 5,400 to 100.

In the decathlon, he runs the 100, 400 and 1500 meters, the 110 high hurdles and participates in the long jump, high jump and the shot put.

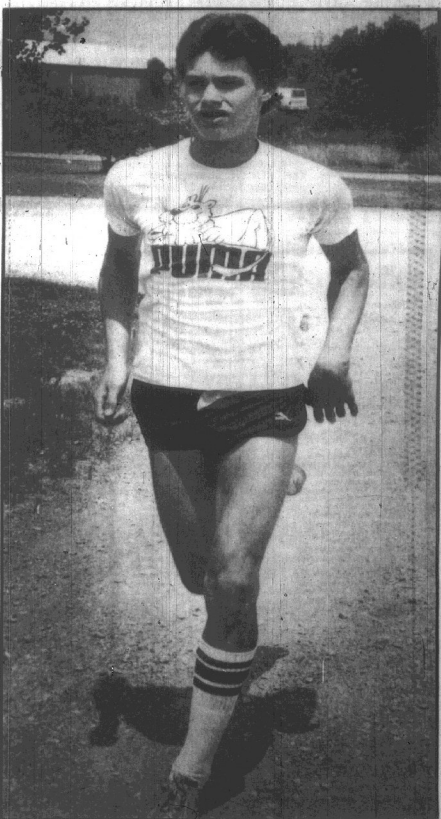

He also runs five miles a day as part of his training. For more training, he'll run cross country for the Warriors this fall and probably play basketball in the winter.

"The competition I'll have in cross country is really going to help me become better. I'm going to have to push myself to do well."

Having to push hard to win will almost be a new experience for Crone. He rarely had to push himself in the 400 meters as his nearest competitor was two seconds slower than Crone. On occasion, he had to push harder in the jumping events because the competition was a little bit better.

Someday, Crone would like to be in the Olympics, but a short range goal is to break the Warrior records in his events, especially in the 400 meters and advance to the state finals. The Granite City High School record in 49.8 seconds.

"I think I can do it, but it's going to take a lot of hard work," Crone said.

Spanky's avenges earlier loss to Eville Nationals

By AL BARNES
of the Press-Record

TROY — It was a dramatic field, all right, but the pregame joshing was pungent and to the point. It was the second meeting this season between the Edwardsville Nationals and the 7-Up/Spanky's and the feelings were very definitely running high since both clubs are liberally laced with players from this area with emphasis of former SIUE Cougars.

Manager Eldon Warfield of the 7-Up/Spanky's, who hopes to take his charges to their fifth trip to the National Baseball Congress tournament at Wichita, Kan., early in August, was obviously worried about his club's chances against the Nationals.

The Nationals, although having lost their first meeting, 10-4, with the Warfield Warriors, are cruising along at a red-hot 18-3 clip, and have a lineup sporting some really impressive hitters.

John Wood (.448); Brian Kabbes (.531); Dick Robertson (.324); Dan Allaria (.320); Bruce Pfeiffer (.550); Rick Fletcher (.344); Phil Conreux (.355); Jim Semmlin (.320) and Greg Steiner (.321).

Man, that's a hitting ball club; and, even though the 7-Up/Spanky's have, themselves, been most impressive with their bats, having scored 155 runs in their 15 games, Warfield wasn't about to take the Nationals lightly.

In addition, he's been concerned with his pitching staff weakening in the late innings.

So, the young manager came up with an apparent idea which, at least last night he in Troy, worked out just fine and his charges turned back the Nationals, 6-1.

Here's the way he did it. He said to his starter, Stan Fabre, a smooth-throwing young man from Louisiana, "Give me the best you have for at least five innings and we'll be ready to come to your rescue."

It almost worked to perfection, except for a mistake the young Fabre made going in to the fifth frame when he hung one to the Nationals' catcher, Phil Conreux, who clobbered the second pitch about 400-feet over the left field fence for the losers' only tally. Prior to that blow, Fabre had given up only one hit. He ended up fanning eight, while walking only one. It was his fifth victory in a 5-1 season.

Warfield took over in the seventh and fanned five of the six would-be batters he faced. He bowed out in the top of the ninth to bring on his relief ace, lanky Bill Morton, who after walking the first man up in the final frame, struck out two of the final hitters.

All told, Fabre, Warfield and Morton fanned a total of 18 Nationals hitters.

Now 28-14, the 7-Up/Spanky's will return to Edwardsville's Hoppe Field for a 7:30 p.m. game with the Valmeyer Lakers tonight.

Six 7-Up/Spanky's batter shared round-batted-in honors against the Nationals with one each: Rick Daily, Darrell Wehrnd, John Vitale, Kevin Sykes, Jay Hoffman and Jackie Baugher.

Incidentally, Daily is working on converting himself to being a switch hitter.

A trio of Granite City players paced the Spanky's in their 18-9 victory last Sunday over the Browns: Jack Scarborough, continuing his sensational hitting, was four-for-five and scored four runs; the youthful Rick Daily hit safely in five trips and drove in three runs; and Tom Gress, who has hopes of perhaps signing a pro contract soon with the Cincinnati Reds, collected three hits and a pair of runs batted in.

In their 11-6 victory over the Lakers at Valmeyer, Daily was again better than the July weather; he blasted out three hits in five trips and led both teams with four runs batted in. Again the veteran Scarborough went two for four, both doubles to drive in a pair of runs.

Steamers hold kicker tryouts

The St. Louis Steamers will be holding a special tryout by invitation only on Monday, July 18th, and Tuesday, July 19th, at the team's practice facility.

Tweilman's Just for Kicks, 191 Rock Industrial Park, in Bridgeway.

Sessions will be held at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. on both days, and will be directed by Steamers' Head Coach Dave Clements. The 1 p.m. session on July 19th will be open to the public.

Coach Clements commented, "Since I've been liv-

Pugliese to leave; a new start for SIUE

Well, turn another page on the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville sports page. First it was the Flach-Seguso incident. Then the Bigman dismissal. And most recently the university administration's decision to cancel the basketball season for the coming '83-'84 season. Now it's something else. Only this time, folks, we're heading into the epilogue. A ray of light may just be flickering at the end of the tunnel.

Tom Pugliese, the Cougars basketball coach of two seasons at SIUE has accepted the head coaching job at Georgia State University. The announcement was made Wednesday morning in Georgia. Pugliese's decision to accept the position comes in the second year of his three-year contract with SIUE.

Coincidentally, too, the decision comes just three weeks after Dr. James Buck's, director of public relations at SIUE, press conference announcing the university's decision to cancel its basketball program.

That's not much time for Pugliese to assemble a resume and for GSU make a decision. Perhaps the administrative wheels move faster in Georgia than they do here. Although, I always thought things moved slower in Georgia.

Anyway, Pugs is leaving. And Georgia can have him.

After two years Pugliese mustered a miserable 17-40 record. His first year, the 1980-81 season, the Cougars under Pugliese were 8-24. Last year the SIUE cagers were 9-16, just one game over .500. And had Pugliese not talked some of his athletes into quitting, the Cougars' record could have been even better. Yes, quitting.

Now, I'm not going to go into Pugliese's record at Lehigh University in Penn. or for that matter any of his other coaching jobs. Just let me say that his career record as a head coach is 29-101. Not very good is it.

That's my point. If a man who has that kind of coaching record can get another job in a larger university, more power to him. I'm just glad SIUE is done with him, or he's done with SIUE, whichever.

It's time to turn the page, put all the basketball and athletic problems behind the university and charge forward.

The rest is a piece—in the selection committee, the faculty task force and whoever is involved with the hiring of another basketball coach.

Consider the local, talented coaches right here in Illinois for the position. I hope the university has learned what dangers may arise with hiring a distant unknown.

There's so much talent and basketball savvy in Illinois, and downright Illinois for that matter, that it borders on ridiculous. Good basketball coaches are a commodity in southern Illinois.

Any number of area coaches, I'm sure, could do as good as Pugliese. Wait, let me rephrase that. Any number of coaches could do better than Pugliese. Now, in all fairness to the former SIUE coach, I believe he really is a fine person, and I think he's a good seller of himself and the university. Pugs has a problem, however, with maintaining a good relationship with many of his players. Consequently some, as mentioned earlier, quit the team. That caused dissonance which resulted in conflicts and lost games which should have been won.

As mentioned good area basketball coaches earlier. Some who might be interested are right here within 20 miles of SIUE, and they have proven records.

For instance, there's Madison High School's Larry Graham. A fine student of the game, he's an excellent motivator and player relations is his forte. Incidentally, Graham was a finalist for the position in 1980, when Pugs received the job. Although, he's accepted the Granite City Center position, I still think he'd be interested.

Bill Ohlendorf. Big Bill would be an excellent candidate for the position. Before jumping to North High School 10 years ago, Ohlendorf piloted the Venice ing in St. Louis, I have had the opportunity to discuss what talent is available in the St. Louis area with some of our local soccer coaches. A complete list of those players participating in the tryouts will be available at Tweilman's on the opening day of the tryout sessions, July 18th.

Sports on the Run

By Al Gerstenecker

High School Red Devils to numerous regional championships.

Bobby Bone, Collinsville's mobile point guard of just 11 years'ago, I was fortunate enough to prep in Collinsville and see Bone pace the Kahoks to countless victories. The last word on Bobby is he was coaching in St. Louis.

Again, there's endless local talent.

But I may be getting the cart before the horse.

First SIUE needs an athletic director. I should name an AD as soon as possible then a succeeding basketball coach. Since the coming season has already been discarded, that would give the new coach a full year to see and recruit, without pressure, athletes for the 84-85 season.

How convenient.

C'mon SIUE administrators. SIUE has a new gym, it will soon have a new athletic director and a new coach (hopefully). Let's begin a new era in SIUE basketball. One we can all be proud of.

Charge sanitary district employee

An incident at the Metro East Sanitary District Office, 1801 Madison Ave., last week, resulted in the arrest of Ernie Eugene Verba, 38, of 912 Iowa St., Madison, an employee, who was charged with criminal damage to property and battery.

Verba allegedly came into the building, demanded his paycheck and became abusive when asked to wait for Walter "Shang" Greathouse, sanitary district president, who was talking with some people in an office.

Verba reportedly went into Greathouse's office, again demanding the paycheck and used abusive language when advised to wait a few minutes and he would get his check. He allegedly began swinging his arms at Greathouse and a scuffle ensued during which a door glass was broken.

Verba was released after posting a $204 cash bond.

Sewer members back $5 increase

By GEORGEANN MCGEE of the Press-Record

Granite City and Madison County residential customers of Granite City's Wastewater Treatment Plant may soon see a $5-per-quarter (each three months) increase in their bills.

The compromise rate is the latest recommendation of the city's pollution plant committee and will be offered to the council in a general session next week. Third Ward Alderman Paul Fisk said he would like the new rate to be approved at the same meeting.

If passed, the new $18-per-quarter rate for Granite City residents would go into effect in August. The current rate is $13-per-quarter.

Fisk said city officials are investigating the possibility of making the new rates retroactive to May, when the plant's fiscal year started. The city attorney is researching the legality of the retroactive proposal.

Fisk is not sure when the increased rates could go into effect for the 3,500 county users. They are part of the Madison County Special Service Area 1 sewer service. Those users currently pay the county $14.80 monthly and would pay $18.47 monthly under the suggested rate.

The $2.5 million proposed wastewater plant budget had originally been based on a doubling of city rates. In a special full council session Tuesday, the pollution plant committee proposed a slash in budget they felt could be supported by a $21-per-quarter hike.

The suggested $8-per-quarter hike, however, did not meet with council approval and the committee was asked to come back with a lower rate proposal. After a meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mayor Paul Schuler, the committee arrived at their latest $5-per-quarter proposal.

The rate is almost identical to the $4.50-per-quarter increase discussed by the mayor last year, when City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic said a $9-per-quarter increase would be necessary to put money into three bond reserve funds required by city ordinance.

merchants using alarms connected to Illinois Bell lines.

"There are many different ways to introduce cable television to Madison and I think now is the time to advertise for presentations from cable companies and their salesmen to best format to suit the residents of Madison at the least cost. The committee can make a final decision on the programs after they have explained in detail with the cost figures included," Hudzik said.

"The cable equipment is being paid for from funds realized from the sale of city-owned property and the only cost to the individual homeowner will be the monthly fee for cable television programs, which is the case in each community," Hudzik explained.

Hudzik added, "The city can realize a gross income of approximately $45,000 per year from the alarm system and, with the additional revenue from the cable television and smoke alarm project, it is estimated that the entire program will be paid for in five years. After that time, additional revenue will be used for city-oriented needs, which have suffered with the reduction of federal or state funding."

"This is a long-term projection that the city must investigate to have a financial income to provide funds for all facets of the city when the government continues to decrease the amount the city can receive for its educational or other programs the residents need," the chairman noted.

Alderman William Gustaf informed the committee that he talked with an insurance representative in regards to having a burglar alarm system and smoke detection system in a house and found that the annual premium on homeowner insurance would decrease by about 25 percent, an additional saving for the householder.

The committee unanimously agreed that the public be notified of each meeting they hold, so anyone may attend and question any segment of the proposal before it reaches the final stage.

Man stabbed while sleeping
Donald J. Robinson, 29, of 2201 State St., suffered a small stab wound to the right upper side of the chest while he was sleeping near an open window in his apartment at 2:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The man was asleep in bed next to the window on the 22nd Street side of the apartment building, he told officers. The window was without a screen and the assailant could have leaned inside and reached him on the bed, he said.

Robinson was unable to identify his attacker, but noted he had called police at 11 p.m. Monday, at the request of a neighbor, due to a disturbance taking place in the parking area at the rear of the apartments.

The wound was bleeding, reports said, and Robinson was taken by a friend to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment.

Group seeks bids on Madison cable TV

By DONNA KIMBRO of the Press-Record

A citizens committee appointed by Madison Mayor Mike Sanyk to investigate bringing cable television to residents met Wednesday night and moved to solicit bids from cable companies for the service.

Robert Hudzik, chairman of the committee, addressed the group and gave a detailed report on background information he gathered since 1980 in conjunction with municipalities installing their own cable, therefore holding control over the type of cable programs offered and cost per subscriber.

Using a national survey figure, Hudzik said it is expected that 35 percent of the residents in Madison will want cable television, which will, in the future, bring many new concepts to the people. With the rapid growth of cable, it is predicted by owners and investors of national cable organizations that banking, grocery shopping, insurance data and many other business opportunities will be included in the programming, as well as home computers that can be connected to the existing equipment.

Since the cables are being installed in Madison for the alarm system, they can be utilized for the television program, as well, thus giving the city new revenue without more taxes.

Mike Mackel told the committee that the cable project is estimated to cost $115,000 and the alarm system cost figure is set at $77,000. All work on the installation of cables will be completed by the end of August and, by the first of September, business places may connect to the city-owned alarm system at a reduction of the monthly charges now paid by the city. The city attorney is researching the legality of the retroactive proposal.

Fisk is not sure when the increased rates could go into effect for the 3,500 county users. They are part of the Madison County Special Service Area 1 sewer service. Those users currently pay the county $14.80 monthly and would pay $18.47 monthly under the suggested rate.

The $2.5 million proposed wastewater plant budget had originally been based on a doubling of city rates. In a special full council session Tuesday, the pollution plant committee proposed a slash in budget they felt could be supported by a $21-per-quarter hike.

The suggested $8-per-quarter hike, however, did not meet with council approval and the committee was asked to come back with a lower rate proposal. After a meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mayor Paul Schuler, the committee arrived at their latest $5-per-quarter proposal.

The rate is almost identical to the $4.50-per-quarter increase discussed by the mayor last year, when City Comptroller Joseph Miklovic said a $9-per-quarter increase would be necessary to put money into three bond reserve funds required by city ordinance.

The reserve funds are intended to back the bonds used to build the wastewater facilities. The bonds also are intended to back the bonds used to build the wastewater facilities.

Students must sign draft statement for SIUE funds

All students applying for federal student aid at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville for the 1983-84 academic year will be required to sign Educational Purpose-Registration Compliance statements, according to John P. Jennetten, director of the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance.

Jennetten made the announcement this week after being advised that the U.S. Supreme Court lifted an injunction issued by the federal judge in Minnesota that would have prevented the draft registration compliance law from taking effect.

The law, which became effective July 1, denies federal financial aid to young men who have failed to register for the draft. The law was passed by Congress last summer and applies to federal grants or loans made after June 30.

Jennetten explained that students who are not required to register for the draft are exempt from the law.

Students who have previously completed the forms on a voluntary basis do not need to take any further action at this time, Jennetten said. Student records will be checked and students who still need to sign the statement will be contacted by mail by the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance.

Jennetten also reported a bill requiring draft registration for all state of Illinois financial aid programs has been approved by the General Assembly and sent to Governor Thompson. He said no further information is available at this point regarding the effect of the bill if it is signed by the governor.

How to save money on your grocery bills

Here are some important shopping tips

- Check specials in food store advertisements.
- Get to know the butcher and produce manager.
- Find out when deliveries of perishables are made and shop on those days. Fresher foods last longer and consequently, you'll waste less.
- Learn to estimate accurately the amounts of food needed. Keep a record of the amount of food you throw away in a week. It may alert you to ways you can reduce waste.
- For economy and variety, use eggs, dry beans, and peanut butter in place of meat some of the time. These foods provide protein and most other nutrients that meat supplies.
- Use nonfat dry milk, which is less expensive than fluid milk, at least part of the time in cooking and as a beverage.
- By law, economy sizes of non-food items must save you at least 5% over other sizes of the same brand.
- Try to shop as seldom as possible, preferably once a week.
- Always shop with a well thought out shopping list. Try to base your list of foods on your menu for the week.
- Take advantage of the special coupon offers going on at First Granite City Savings in conjunction with your local Schnuck's grocer.

Methodist minister to serve two churches

The Rev. Vernon Brown has assumed the dual duties of the First United Methodist Church in Madison, and Dewey Avenue United Methodist Church.

He formerly pastored the Methodist Church in Bridgeport, Ill., and was re-assigned to the Quad-City area by Bishop Leroy Hodapp of Springfield, Ill., during the annual Methodist Conference.

Rev. Brown, his wife Doris, and their children, Joe, Priscilla and Evangeline, are living in the Madison parsonage.

Priscilla and Evangeline are enrolled at Central Baptist Academy, 390 Highway 111, for the fall term. Rev. and Mrs. Brown are also the parents of three other daughters, Mrs. Caroline Summers of Virginia, Mrs. Robyle Baker residing at Scott Air Force Base, Belleville, and Mrs. Rebecca Heard of Homestead, Fla.

Since arriving in the area, Rev. Brown and Emile DeMotte, layman at Dewey Avenue Methodist, have been visiting with members of the two churches in an effort for the minister to become acquainted with people of both congregations. Rev. Brown holds Sunday worship services at the Madison Church from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. which is followed by the Sunday School hour, and then arrives at Dewey Avenue Methodist for 10:50 a.m. services. Sunday School sessions there are from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

Baptist youths win state awards

The congregation of the First Free Will Baptist Church, 2216 Charles St., announces that several youth from their church won first place in various activities in Free Will Baptist Illinois State competitive activities.

Each year youth of their church compete in activities designed for first grade through college age, and include Bible memorization for grades one through three, Bible sword drill for grades four through six, Bible tie tac toe for grades seven through nine, Bible bowl for grades 10 through 12 through college age, and include Bible tie tac toe for these four age groups and college age, according to Randall Steelman, church training director.

Bible memorization consists of memorizing and quoting a pre-designated set of Bible verses. Bible sword drill is an exercise in finding a particular Bible verse in 15 seconds or less competing against other contestants. Bible sword drill also requires memorizing a pre-established list of names, topics, doctrines and quotes and finding them. Bible tie tac toe is a game between teams in answering a list of 500 questions and Bible quotes patterned after the common tie tac toe game. Bible bowl is similar to Bible tie tac toe except the two teams compete against each other against the clock. The music competition is judged on musical ability in the particular composition chosen, the director explained.

According to Steelman, the following youth won in the 1983 Illinois competitive activities, Joanna Steelman placed second in second grade Bible memorization, John Steelman placed second in fourth grade sword drill and vocal solo, Diana Steelman won second place in keyboard solo and third place for vocal solo.

The first place winner, Diana Steelman, will now compete in national competition in Columbus, Ohio, sponsored by the Church Training Department of the National Association of Free Will Baptists. This competition will be held July 17 through 20.

The Steelman children reside with their parents in Glen Carbon, and attend Bethel Christian Academy in South Roxana.

SS Cyril - Methodist Summer Bible Study

The parish of SS Cyril and Method Eastern Orthodox Church, 4770 Maryville Road, is offering a summer Bible-Study program led by their parish priest, the Rev. Steven Kostoff.

Tentatively the Bible Study is scheduled to meet on Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock through early September, Rev. Kostoff announces.

Anyone who is interested in participating in the program is welcome, the minister added. This summer, the class will concentrate on books and themes from the New Testament.

"The Orthodox Church, which is indeed apostolic because her existence is rooted in the Day of Pentecost itself, has always understood the Holy Scriptures to be the revealed word of God to mankind for salvation and the knowledge of God. The entire life of the church, liturgical, sacramental, theological, and spiritual, is reflective of the inspiration of God's word, and yet the Holy scriptures are always to be understood within the context of the tradition of the church which is the ongoing and life-giving presence of the Holy spirit in the church," Rev. Kostoff announces.

Church Women United continue programs

Quad-City Church Women United are involved in many projects and programs for the benefit of the community and among those is a continuing effort to provide infant clothing for newborn babies in the area.

Church organizations and individuals donate items for the Layette Program, according to Mrs. Nona Corzilius, president.

Women always need volunteers to help sew the clothing and if anyone is interested in this aspect of the project they are advised to call Catherine Ponce, chairman, at 877-2588, the president.

Another program to help children is the Friends in Learning project, under the leadership of Mrs. Dolores Vogler. Volunteer tutors help school children in various subjects which they cannot fully understand during the course of a regular school day.

Although the sessions are recessed for the summer months, Mrs. Vogler said anyone who can assist with this educational project beginning in September should contact her for more information or times they would be available for the tutoring classes.

Methodist Women set fall bazaar

Arrangements for the annual September bazaar was the main topic of discussion at a meeting of the Dewey Avenue United Methodist Women's Society, held last week at the church.

Mrs. Tennie Webb opened the session with devotions and hymns, and Mrs. Virginia Kessler, president, conducted the business meeting.

Another subject of interest was the Project Help, which is designed to benefit the unemployed people of the Quad-City area. The group plans to aid the project, Mrs. Kessler noted.

A salad luncheon was served after the meeting with Mrs. Doris Brown offering the table prayer. Guests attending were Mrs. Brown and her two daughters, Priscilla and Evangeline.

Mrs. Crnkovich hosts circle

A barbecue and covered dish picnic was held at the home of Mrs. Peggy Crnkovich in Madison, last week, for members of Our Lady of Fatima Circle 835, Daughters of Isabella.

During the social gathering the birthday of Mary, Nemeth was celebrated by the 25 members attending.

After the dinner hour, games were played and prizes awarded. The next scheduled meeting will be held on Thursday, Sept. 1, at the Knights of Columbus Hall, the hostess noted.

CONTEST WINNERS. Students who attended the Summer Bible Program at St. Joseph Catholic Church, participated in a contest naming the kindest person in the city. Top honors went to, from left, Anastasia Rao, Brandy Kalpis, Crystal Maloney, in background is Mrs. Gloria Falbe, Confraternity Christian Doctrine Religious Co-ordinator for the church.

HELIUM BALLOONS. with a religious message inside, are set off by the Rev. Gary Perret and students of the Summer Bible Program at St. Joseph Catholic Church. This segment was the final phase of the three week program and followed the Children's Prayer Service held at the church.

Summer Bible Program at St. Joseph Church

The Confraternity Christian Doctrine (CCD) organization of St. Joseph Catholic Church held a summer bible program for children of pre-school age through the eighth grade for three weeks at the church.

Children participating in the Monday through Friday classes arrived for the 8 a.m. Mass and were dismissed at 11:30 a.m. Classes were based on the Sadder Summer Bible Program series which focused on the Parables of Jesus and New Testament readings.

This project was planned by Mrs. Gloria Falbe, CCD Co-ordinator of St. Joseph Church, with the assistance of Irene Nelson, Dolores Lawson, Brenda Jaime, Regina Becker, Dixie Kalpis and Alta Wilson, all CCD teachers.

Mrs. Falbe said the program was designed to provide a relaxed environment for prayer, play, study, crafts and music. Field trips were taken to Ed and Beth's Greenhouse, 2763 Nameoki Drive, the Granite City Public Library and St. Elizabeth Medical Center, where the children were given a tour of the facility, she added.

The final phase of the program was a Children's Prayer Service held at the church where the parables and readings were re-enacted and expressed by students in various grade levels. Helium balloons were taped to the altar and each contained a religious message the children learned during the summer session. After the service, the Rev. Gary Perret, M.S.F., pastor of the church, led the children outside to release the balloons.

Open house was held at St. Joseph's Convent, where refreshments were served and parents and friends were given the opportunity to view the children's work.

Regular CCD classes for children of the parish will resume in the fall, Mrs. Falbe noted.

NOW IS THE TIME!

"2 Timothy 4:17 . . . Notwithstanding the Lord was with me, and strengthened me."

The testimony of the Apostle Paul is without a doubt one of the greatest in the world. Here is a man totally opposed to God and strictly devoted to his own form of religion. God reveals himself to Paul on the road to Damascus and he then turns around and opposes his former religion and gives himself completely to God. Paul counts all things loss that he might gain Christ.

When Paul started for God, he never turned back against Him. He sacrificed much, he suffered much, yet he remained faithful.

God rewarded Paul for his steadfastness. By Paul's own words, "The Lord was with me, and strengthened me." Could we ask for more than this?

God will be with you. He will strengthen you. Make your total commitment to Him.

Today.

Gains for consumers, farmers, miners; not enough help for schools by legislature

By SAM WOLF

State Representative
The outlook for Illinois farmers and the coal industry looks brighter, but the lack of adequate school aid for Downstate is a major disappointment.

For many years, according to Springfield veterans, the coal industry and our agriculture industry received short shrift from the General Assembly. I believe a number of bills passed this year turned that situation around.

Legislation was passed to create Coal Research and Development funding, using 1/32nd of the public utilities tax, the message tax (on telephones) and the natural gas revenue tax. Approximately $10 million will be generated for this research through the fund.

Illinois is sitting on a large reserve of coal. Unfortunately, it is expensive to burn safely because of the high sulfur content. This research fund should come up with ways to overcome the high-sulfur problem and put Illinois miners back to work.

I also supported legislation to allow tax credits to businesses which engage in coal research and buy equipment to burn high-sulfur coal.

In addition, legislation prohibiting the automatic pass-through to consumers of transportation costs for out-of-state coal brought in by utilities received the support of the General Assembly.

There is definitely a recognition that our coal is a resource critical to our economic recovery. Few pieces of legislation could be more important to our area than encouraging the use of Illinois coal.

Bills to place a moratorium on farm foreclosures, to join other states in minimum pricing legislation, and to address the elevator bankruptcy problem all came before the House Agriculture Committee this session.

Excellent testimony was presented on these issues and the Agriculture Committee held them over for future consideration. The future of the farmer and our agricultural industry is a very serious issue. We hope, over the summer, to hold hearings on a variety of these issues.

I supported legislation to ensure farmers against grain elevator failures. The House and Senate passed this bill in the last days of the session.

Since 1978, there have been 29 elevator bankruptcies in the state. This has threatened the financial security of those farmers storing grain at an elevator.

The legislation sent to the governor's desk establishes a fund to pay up to 65 percent of a farmer's losses, with a ceiling of $100,000 per farmer. Grain dealers and warehousemen would pay moderate licensing fees to support this fund.

The Downstate Illinois school aid agreements were not acceptable.

In general, the spending program presented to the General Assembly, even with an income tax increase, did not adequately support Downstate education.

I believe that the education of our children is the one necessary element in a tax increase. However, it was clear that adequate and fair consideration of our educational need in Southern Illinois were not going to be met.

We must "go back to the drawing board" in the fall and try to adequately meet these educational needs. It is not simply a matter of where the funds should go — it is a matter of the future of our children and, ultimately, our state.

Several measures this session were designed to help small and medium sized businesses, and to emphasize the retraining of the unemployed as major steps toward economic recovery.

I praise the job training efforts made by the General Assembly, but caution that more of the job training funds must come to Southern Illinois.

I supported the high-technology job training program and the supplemental appropriation for dislocated worker projects. But I plan next year to fight for some of these programs coming to our area.

The Department of Commerce and Community Affairs has decided to place a dislocated worker program, funded by federal Joint Training Partnership Act funds, in DuPage County. Most of the Southern Illinois counties are many miles away from any such program.

DuPage County is the richest county in the State of Illinois. Its unemployment rate is far below that of Madison County.

We have a whole section of 18 counties with no training program of this type. I hope the department reconsiders its priorities in this program and allocates the funds where they will really help.

The Illinois Export Council is another program which I believe will be helpful to Illinois farmers and businesses.

One of the tremendous problems our agriculture community faces is competition and access to the international market for Illinois products and provide our farmers and manufacturers with contacts and assistance in the marketing of their products.

Tickets going fast for state fair shows

There shouldn't be any complaining about the music coming out of the grandstand at the 1983 Illinois State Fair, at least from an acoustic point of view. To match what he calls "the strongest line-up we've had since I've been here," State Fair Entertainment Manager Mike DeBois has enlisted the talents of Showco, a leading sound company within the industry. "Now we have the best grandstand sound ever," DeBois said. The $1.5 million sound system, being installed exclusively for this year's state fair concerts, utilizes the latest in computer technology, DeBois said. The Dallas-based firm has designed sound systems in the past for such major acts as David Bowie, the Who and the Rolling Stones. DeBois said the equipment will be leased for the run of the fair and used strictly for the concert events. Patti Gumble, assistant ticket office manager, said ticket sales continue to go well for all the grandstand shows, with more than $155,000 worth of reserved seating tickets sold at present. "Alabama is sold out," said Gumble. "So are 37 seats for the Beach Boys and both nights of Willie Nelson." Gumble added that $6 and $4 tickets are still available for those shows and 1,500 tickets are put on sale for $2 every day for each show, beginning at 8:30 a.m. Tickets also are available through Illinois Ticketron outlets, she said. The Four Tops and the Temptations will open the fair at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 11. The Greg Kihn Band and Head East are scheduled to perform Friday, Aug. 12, at 8 p.m.

Juice Newton and the Thrasher Brothers will be featured at 7 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 13. The Charlie Daniels Band and Lacey J. Dalton will perform two shows at 7 and 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 15. Willie Nelson will take the stage Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 16 and 17, at 8 p.m., with Alabama performing on Thursday night, Aug. 18, at 8 p.m. Grammy winner Kenny Rogers will appear at 7 and 9:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 19, and the Beach Boys will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 20. The fair will close Sunday night with a free 8 p.m. show by the Bellamy Brothers, George Strait and Bonnie Nelson.

Seminar on rescue tasks on Saturday

Professional and volunteer rescue workers throughout Illinois will be offered a one-day seminar on rural rescue techniques Saturday. All activities will be held from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Farm Service elevator in Alhambra. The seminar, sponsored by the Madison County Farm Bureau Women's Committee, provides eight continuing education credits for fire-fighters, rescue squad members, paramedics and emergency medical technicians.

Women's Committee member Carleen Paul said the seminar focuses on the unique aspects of farm accidents. "Firemen and rescue squads in the area know a great deal about handling car and truck accident victims. But there's been little training just for farm accidents. This program is a first," said Mrs. Paul. University of Illinois safety specialist O. L. Hogsett and other safety experts will provide additional classroom sessions will include a presentation on proper medical handling of amputated limbs.

University of Illinois safety specialist O. L. Hogsett and other safety experts will provide additional classroom sessions will include a presentation on proper medical handling of amputated limbs. Outdoor demonstrations include firemen extinguishing an L.P. gas fire, a simulated rescue from a grain bin, and the lowering of an "accident victim" from an 80-foot silo. Training will include information on how equipment works and the best ways to remove people from different kinds of equipment. "Something as simple as knowing how to shut off a tractor can save a life," Mrs. Paul commented. The seminar theme is "Save One Life - Feed 78 Others," a reference to the American farmer's ability to produce crops to feed himself and 78 other people around the world.

Fire applications being taken

Granite City is accepting applications to test for placement on the fire department hiring list.

Weldon Burch, chairman of the Police and Fire Commissioners' Board, opened the application period after the city council dismissed the city council's request to extend the current eligibility list for another year.

City ordinance requires the list be rewritten every two years.

Commissioners felt the slowness of job openings in the fire department had placed those already on the list in the unfair position of having to reapply and compete against other candidates to retain their rank.

So long as rain continues to hold off the Metro-East Sanitary District can continue with several projects it has started, including work to clear debris from ditches and culverts within the district, the board of commissioners was told Tuesday morning.

Above average rain has kept MESD employees from being able to keep drainage routes clear, a problem that has plagued the district continually, and the rains have forced employees to spend more time in pump stations to make certain that equipment is operating properly.

But MESD President Walter "Shang" Greathouse told the board that if "interior rains" don't come, there shouldn't be too many problems with getting the district caught up with projects that need to be finished.

He said the Mississippi River is at the 21-foot mark and MESD employees actually got a long weekend off during the Fourth of July holiday, inevitably, heavy rains have struck the area each time a holiday weekend rolls around, putting employees back in the pump stations on holiday overtime pay and forcing the district's electricity costs and payroll costs up.

Greathouse said that some employees of the MESD thought that the stations would have to be manned during the holiday, but they were able to hold off until July 6, when the river started to rise again.

After being in the stations on a 24-hour basis all of April and May, all of March except eight days and all of June except one week, Greathouse was adamant that employees would get at least the July 4 holiday uninterrupted.

"We were watching it like a hawk," he said of the river. The board also learned of several problems, including a ditch in Mitchell that needs work done.

The commissioners also received a letter from Richard Krause, a St. Clair County Board member, concerning high weeds next to a residential area in East St. Louis. "The high weeds are causing many problems, because snakes and mosquitoes are coming out and bothering the people," the letter said.

Greathouse provided an update on a problem at the Landsdowne Treatment Plant. One of two major pumps at the plant is not operating because a motor went out and could cost from $1,500 to $2,500 to repair.

The far, MESD has not experienced serious problems because of the pump being out, because normally only one pump operates at a time, on an alternating basis.

The board also learned that a grant to clean out the

Corcoran challenges Percy to 22 debates

Senate candidate Tom Corcoran has called upon Senator Charles H. Percy to defend his deciding vote against President Reagan's 1984 federal budget. In a letter to Percy, the fourth-term Republican Congressman challenged Percy to 22 debates, one in each of the State's congressional districts.

"Republicans deserve to know more about the clear differences between us," wrote Corcoran, of Ottawa.

"Our respective positions on a range of issues distinctly contrast. I believe the president's budget plan to be generally appropriate, while you voted with Ted Kennedy and other Democrats to defeat it by one vote, voting instead for an essentially Democratic budget. President Reagan and I oppose international terrorism, yet you have called Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat "a moderate."

"How strongly we would support President Reagan on economic and foreign policy issues and represent the interests of Illinoisans are crucial to Republicans as they choose their Senate nominee," Corcoran asserted in the letter. "Debates are excellent means of providing this information."

Corcoran announced his candidacy for the nomination June 13. The primary election will be held March 20, 1984.

Eyes up! when you work near power lines

Overhead power lines carry a lot of electric current. When you're working or playing outdoors, the first safety rule is "Eyes up!" If there's a power line around, treat it with respect. A metal ladder, a metal pole, a grain auger or a tree trimmer can become a conductor when they touch a power line. If you're on the other end, the consequences could be serious, possibly fatal.

For the same reasons, don't fly kites or model planes near power lines. And please note this: almost any object—wood, plastic or rubber—can become a conductor when it's wet.

For outdoor safety it's "eyes up" when there's a power line nearby.
